

Exciting Drama Takes To Screen In New Ohio Film

Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Turban Bey head the cast of the Oriental adventure film, "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," opening Friday at the Ohio theatre in technicolor.

The Sigma theatre offers "Lost Angel" and "Men on Her Mind," starting Saturday, while "Miracle of Morgan's Creek" and "Passport to Destiny" are shown for the last time Friday.

Orson Welles and Jor Fontaine are the featured performers of "Jane Eyre," now at the Quilna theatre.

Preview entertainment includes this and the new films, "Lady Let's Dance" and "Million Dollar Kid." Bogeyman Bela Lugosi haunts the screen of the Lyric theatre with his latest eerie concoction, "Voodoo Man," between showings of "Raiders of Red Gap."

An entertaining comedy of a man with too many uncles is offered at the State in "So's Your Uncle," now showing with "Tarzan's Desert Mystery."

Helen and Warren who sail along the coast of Oregon on vacation. A storm capsizes their boat and Helen becomes unconscious. In that state an amazing sequence of events unfold for her, culminating in a surprise ending.

Spring and a very fetching young thing arrive about the same time when bewitching Barbara Curtis comes to pay a ten-day visit with "The Parker Family" in "Nancy's Visitor," the episode to be heard over WJZ, Friday at 7:15 p. m. EST.

Ignoring earlier misgivings, such as what cookie-puss Louise Preston might think when she learns a strange and alluring creature is staying with the Parkers, Richard soon has eyes for no one but the guest. With him, spring is when a man's thoughts turn to something fancy.

Victor Moore, stage, screen and guest star on the Amos 'n' Andy radio comedian, will appear as show of Friday at 9 p. m. EST, over WEAF. The rotund Moore, whose performance as "Vice-President Alexander Throtlebottom" in the Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "Of Thee I Sing," was a high point in comedy, will enter upon the Kingfish's embroglio relating to his automobile accident. Whatever happens from then on spells laughs for the radio audience.
