

Child Star Has Title Role In "Lost Angel" At State

Margaret O'Brien, widely-known child star, portrays the title role in "Lost Angel" opening Thursday at the State theatre. The film deals with attempts to raise a superior child and child psychology. On the same billing will be "Three Russian Girls" while "Gung Ho" and "Hi Ya Good Lookin'" close at this entertainment house Wednesday night.

Currently showing at the Ohio is "The Hitler Gang." The four women who were the first to visit the combat zones to provide entertainment for the service men unfold their story in "Four Jills in a Jeep" at the Quilna.

Leslie Howard and Merle Oberon give forth in "The Scarlet Pimpernel" while Robert Donat stars in "Ghost Goes West" at the Sigma.

Opening Thursday at the Lyric will be "Is Everybody Happy" and "Fugitive From Sonora" while "None Shall Escape" and "O My Darling Clementine" play for the last times Wednesday night.

Offered now at the Lima Drive-In is "Shadow of Doubt."

OHIO
At the time "The Hitler Gang" at the Ohio theatre was put on celluloid, D-Day and H-hour had not yet arrived and yet in the closing scene the voices of the people the Hitler regime has oppressed and massacred begin to haunt Der Fuehrer and his mors or less dormant insanity comes to the surface. If this illustrates the Hitler personality as it was before the invasion, it is easy to imagine his thoughts at the present.

This picture will prove an outstanding record of Hitler's rise to power and is gripping in its drama and insight into the self-believed master-mind.

QUILNA
Acclaimed the year's fastest and funniest screen frolic is "Four Jills in a Jeep," the new hit at the Quilna theatre. The film features Kay Francis, Carole Landis, Martha Raye and Mitzi Mayfair, with Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, John Harvey, Phil Silvers, and introduces Dick Haymes, radio's mellow-voiced singing star. Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Carmen Miranda and George Jessel, who acts as master of ceremonies, appear as the picture's guest stars.

"Four Jills in a Jeep" was directed by Irving A. Seitter and produced by William Starr. The screen play was written by Robert Ellis, Helen Logan and Snag Werris.

Holding the English record for being longest kept a secret, the British reconnaissance bomber Al-bemarle was not revealed to the public until after three years of production.

Sinatra Squelches Screams On Wednesday Radio Program

It looks like a sincere statement on the part of Frank Sinatra has hushed up the screaming of the teen age fans who invariably are among the ticket holders for his Wednesday night program heard over WABC at 9 p. m. EWT.

Just before the show goes on the air, Frank now, says that there will be no studio audience for his half-hour show in the future if there is any screaming during the singing numbers. "Laugh if you want to during the comedy sequences, applaud if you like after numbers," says Sinatra, "but PLEASE—NO screaming during the vocals."

Eddie Cantor announces the winner of his G. I. Joe contest on "Time to Smile" Wednesday over WJAF at 9 p. m. EWT.

The announcement climaxes a three-month search for the typical soldier by Cantor, who personally established a $5,000 bank account to help finance a post-war career for the lucky recipient.

An insurance racket in the trucking business gives the North a busy time in "The North's Tail Tailgate O'Toole" in "Mr. and Mrs. North" Wednesday (8 p. m. EWT). Alice Frost and Joseph Curtin play the light-hearted amateur sleuths.
