

Fans Admire Equestrian's Costume

Shown looking at an equestrian's costume on view in the State Historical society museum's circus exhibition are Mrs. W. L. Jackman and Mrs. Eva Torrey, members of the Wisconsin William C. Coup tent circus fans association.

Braathen Will Tell Stories of State's Great Circuses

The times may have changed since the nation's greatest circuses were born in Wisconsin, but the thrill of the elephants, the big top, the twirling acrobats and the shrill music of the calliope are the same as they were a half century ago.

The story of "The Lure of the White Tops," depicting Wisconsin as the mother of circuses, will be told by Atty. Sverre O. Braathen, in the Gregory room of the State Historical society museum at 3 p. m. today.

Earl Hines Plays Here Wednesday

Earl "Fatha" Hines will bring his orchestra and entertainers to the stage of the Orpheum, Wednesday, Madeline Green, Billy Eckstein, Betty Roche and Jesse Perry, together with Vaudeville acts, will help round out this stage show.

French Pianist to Teach Here

Mlle. Nadia Boulanger, eminent French woman pianist and orchestra leader, will arrive in Madison today to spend six weeks directing a musical institute at Edgewood junior college.

Ruth Andrews to Play Bach Canzona

"Canzona in D Minor," one of the earlier organ works by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be heard this morning in the recital by Ruth Fieger Andrews at Luther Memorial church at 10:30 a. m. today.

Frances Axen Pupils to Give Recital

Pupils of Frances Axen will present a piano recital Monday night at 7:30 in the Esther Vilas hall. Josephine Pfahler, soprano, will be guest singer.

"THOSE WE LOVE" NEW TIME! NOW ON THE AIR

Advertisement for 'THOSE WE LOVE' radio program, featuring a starburst graphic and the text '7 p. m. Thursday WIBA'.

Magic Show to Be Saturday

Program Will Open Summer Varieties

Bill Dornfield, dexterous comed-magic entertainer and his company of magicians will launch the Wisconsin Union Summer Varieties program with a "Night of Magic" program Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Wisconsin Union theater.

The Summer Varieties will also bring to the campus playhouse during the next two months Olive O'Neil, singer of operetta, and Bill Snyder and Jerry Glidden, radio du-pianists.

Dornfield will act as master of ceremonies for "A Night of Magic" while his company displays its bag of tricks. His company includes John Sims who was born in Copenhagen, Denmark and began his show career as a child circus performer, and has worked with both Houdini and Thurston.

Among the novelty numbers on the program will be that of George Boston and his rag pictures: beautiful landscapes created with lightning speed from bits of colored rags.

Box office sale for "A Night of Magic" show opens Monday at the Union theater box office.

Earl Hines Plays Here Wednesday

Although something like 38 circuses got their start in southern Wisconsin, the one organized in November, 1882, by five Ringling Brothers of Baraboo, became the largest and best known.

At first the Ringlings introduced their show as the Ringling Brothers Classic and Comic Concert company, and a year later they called it the Ringling Brothers Carnival of Fun. After many years of success on the road, the famous brothers bought the Barnum and Bailey circus and were billed as the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, greatest show on earth.

French Pianist to Teach Here

In the late 1850's, according to Braathen, Mat Van Bleck, a farmer of Dutch descent, was in the lead mining business at a place called Shawntown near Jamestown (now Louisville), Wis. When he had what he felt was a sufficient bankroll, he invested the money in a circus and the show took to the road from Jamestown. After losing his investment, Van Bleck went back to lead mining.

Newspapers of the day carry little about Orton's Badger circus, but it was founded as a wagon show at Portage, Wis., by Hiram Orton in 1854. The George W. Hollis circus and the Wintermute circus started at Whitewater, while the Seibel Brothers circus was founded in Watertown; the Miller Brothers circus in Beaver Dam; the Strander Brothers circus at Burlington; the Dode Fiske circus at Wauwec.

The Sverre Braathens own a circus room called the "White Tops" in which they have housed some 25,000 items on circus life and people. Much of the material from their collections is now on view in the historical museum's current exhibition "Wisconsin, Mother of Circuses" along with items from the museum collections. Miniature circus wagons owned by Dr. H. H. Conley of Park Ridge, Ill., are also on display.

Ruth Andrews to Play Bach Canzona

"Canzona in D Minor," one of the earlier organ works by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be heard this morning in the recital by Ruth Fieger Andrews at Luther Memorial church at 10:30 a. m. today.

Advertisement for 'THOSE WE LOVE' radio program, featuring a starburst graphic and the text '7 p. m. Thursday WIBA'.

Magic Show to Be Saturday

Program Will Open Summer Varieties

Bill Dornfield, dexterous comed-magic entertainer and his company of magicians will launch the Wisconsin Union Summer Varieties program with a "Night of Magic" program Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Wisconsin Union theater.

The Summer Varieties will also bring to the campus playhouse during the next two months Olive O'Neil, singer of operetta, and Bill Snyder and Jerry Glidden, radio du-pianists.

Dornfield will act as master of ceremonies for "A Night of Magic" while his company displays its bag of tricks. His company includes John Sims who was born in Copenhagen, Denmark and began his show career as a child circus performer, and has worked with both Houdini and Thurston.

Among the novelty numbers on the program will be that of George Boston and his rag pictures: beautiful landscapes created with lightning speed from bits of colored rags.

Box office sale for "A Night of Magic" show opens Monday at the Union theater box office.

Earl Hines Plays Here Wednesday

Although something like 38 circuses got their start in southern Wisconsin, the one organized in November, 1882, by five Ringling Brothers of Baraboo, became the largest and best known.

At first the Ringlings introduced their show as the Ringling Brothers Classic and Comic Concert company, and a year later they called it the Ringling Brothers Carnival of Fun. After many years of success on the road, the famous brothers bought the Barnum and Bailey circus and were billed as the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, greatest show on earth.

French Pianist to Teach Here

In the late 1850's, according to Braathen, Mat Van Bleck, a farmer of Dutch descent, was in the lead mining business at a place called Shawntown near Jamestown (now Louisville), Wis. When he had what he felt was a sufficient bankroll, he invested the money in a circus and the show took to the road from Jamestown. After losing his investment, Van Bleck went back to lead mining.

Newspapers of the day carry little about Orton's Badger circus, but it was founded as a wagon show at Portage, Wis., by Hiram Orton in 1854. The George W. Hollis circus and the Wintermute circus started at Whitewater, while the Seibel Brothers circus was founded in Watertown; the Miller Brothers circus in Beaver Dam; the Strander Brothers circus at Burlington; the Dode Fiske circus at Wauwec.

The Sverre Braathens own a circus room called the "White Tops" in which they have housed some 25,000 items on circus life and people. Much of the material from their collections is now on view in the historical museum's current exhibition "Wisconsin, Mother of Circuses" along with items from the museum collections. Miniature circus wagons owned by Dr. H. H. Conley of Park Ridge, Ill., are also on display.

Ruth Andrews to Play Bach Canzona

"Canzona in D Minor," one of the earlier organ works by Johann Sebastian Bach, will be heard this morning in the recital by Ruth Fieger Andrews at Luther Memorial church at 10:30 a. m. today.

Advertisement for 'THOSE WE LOVE' radio program, featuring a starburst graphic and the text '7 p. m. Thursday WIBA'.

Radio Highlights for Today

- Religion: 9 a. m.—Highlights of the Bible (WMAQ); "The Theme Song of Jesus" Church of the Air (WBBM); the Rev. John L. Deaton, Baltimore Lutheran, on "Transfigured Suffering."
Music: 3:30 p. m.—World of Song (WENR); Annamary Dickey, John Gurney; "The Song Is You," "Danny Deever," "Red Mill" selections... Eleanor Steber (WBBM); and Percy Faith's orchestra; Youmans medley, "Stardust," "By the Waters of Minnetonka."
Variety: 3 p. m.—Al Pearce (WENR); Elmer falls for Martha Mears.
4 p. m.—Mary Small (WENR); and Jane Cowly.
6 p. m.—All-Time Hit Parade (WIBA); with Kay Kyser.
7 p. m.—Grace Fields (WIBA); and Judy Garland.
8:30 p. m.—Fred Allen (WBBM); and Monty Woolley.
9:30 p. m.—Bob Crosby (WIBA); presents Peggy Lee... Jobs for GI Joe (WBBM); new series.

Asbestos-Clad Firemen Teach Truax Lesson in Rescuing 'Oscar' from Staged Plane Blaze

Firemen in helmets, rubber coats, and asbestos suits are shown above rescuing "Oscar" from a burning plane at Truax Field.

The fire was purposely started, "Oscar" was a dummy, and the plane was a salvaged hulk of what was once an RA-24 training plane—but there was nothing faked about the way the firemen darted through the flames to perform the rescue.

The stage was set with "Oscar" in the cockpit of the battered plane hulk, which was lodged in a gasoline-covered mud hole. Before the fire was started, the Truax fire trucks made several practice runs under the direction of Elmer Rohan, 2148 E. Washington ave., chief of the field's fire fighters, and two of his assistants, A. G. Wessell and C. J. Bohne, both of Madison.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Fire out in 30 seconds. The fire was out in 30 seconds.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Members of fire departments from Madison and the area were on hand to watch the demonstration. As the fire was started in the gasoline-mud hole around the plane, two asbestos-clad firemen from the field, William J. "Curly" McFadden, 430 N. Baldwin st., and James Kaech, 27 N. Butler st., rushed through the flames to rescue "Oscar," as two fire trucks carrying foam, a chemical fire-fighting mixture, began extinguishing the blaze.

Two R. R. Employees Will Be Honored

E. L. HENRY

Two Chicago and North Western Railway Co. employees will be honored at a North Western Railroad safety meeting in Madison Tuesday for perfect safety achievements during the past year.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

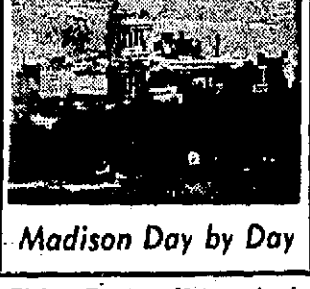

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

The men are E. K. Pearson, roadmaster, and A. L. Dumas, division storekeeper of the North Western Line at Madison.

E. L. Henry, superintendent of safety for the Chicago and North Western Railway system, will present award of merit certificates to the men at the meeting which will be attended by active and retired personnel of the railroad. Award of merit certificates are presented to certain supervisory employees of the railway system for achieving perfect safety records showing no reportable injuries or time lost due to injuries among men working under their supervision.

Betty Cass

Madison Day by Day

Globe Trotter Note: A few afternoons ago when Harry Hale, Stoughton, was fishing on Lake Kegonsa, he noticed, fishing near him, Edor Everson Jr., son of Edor Everson, assistant cashier of the First National bank at Stoughton.

Nothing so queer about that, you say? No... except that Mr. Hale knew that Edor, who is a signalman in the navy, had just come back from Australia, New Guinea, Persia, the Canal Zone, and other points east and west, and that he had been home less than three hours when he saw him out fishing, on a little Wisconsin lake, as happy and contented-looking man as he'd ever seen.

One evening a week or so ago Pvt. Seymour Freedman who is stationed at Truax Field put in a long distance call for his mother who lives in Wilkes Barre, Pa.

He gave her name, her street address, and had just finished saying "At Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania," when he heard a little gasp on the wire and the operator (breaking telephone company rules, but in an involuntary, friendly gesture, which is why we aren't using her name) said, "Are you the brother of Jim Freedman of Wilkes Barre?"

"That's right," answered Pvt. Freedman, surprised, "but how do you know?"

"Because I used to go with him at school," the girl's voice said hurriedly, "but I can't talk to you now." Then, in orthodox operator fashion, she repeated the name and address and said, "I'll call you."

Later, when the call had been put through, Pvt. Freedman managed to get the girl's name and, still later, he saw her, they talked over old times, and he gave her Jim's overseas address and told her Jim was due to come home on leave any time now.

Lt. Col. Don Blair of St. Louis, who has been here visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Haley, 110 Elm street, was planning to leave on the 400 for Chicago the other day when he discovered that John's brother, Earl Haley, was also going to Chicago on the same train.

They went to the train together, then, and as they were waiting for it they wondered if they'd have seats in the same parlor car. "Oh, there's probably only one on the train," Mr. Haley said, "so we'll undoubtedly be in the same one."

And when they got on the train they discovered that their seats were not only in the same car, but that they were the same seat. Although they had been bought on different days, the agent had, through some error, sold them both Seat 18.

A goodly share of the population of western Dane and Sauk counties is chuckling or growling over a situation which has developed out there over the group of Jamaican and Japanese workers who are helping Joe Racet run his big farm this season.

When the dark-skinned men first arrived they happened on their first pay-day, to go into a village not far from where they worked—but a clerk in a store there refused to wait on them. The idea spread, and after a couple of other clerks had refused to sell them anything, they left.

When word of what had happened reached Mr. Racet he went to Mazomanie, which is just as near to where they work as is the other village, and asked the proprietors of one or two of the stores there if they would wait on the men.

"Why not?" the Mazomanie proprietors asked in return, "their money is as good as anyone else's, isn't it?" And the Jamaicans and Japanese were received as customers just as is anyone else.

The result is that the newcomers, who are good spenders, are spending all their money in Mazomanie exclusively and the other village has realized, too late, that they said too much, too soon.

The navy announced Saturday that because of unexpectedly low casualties among navy and marine fliers it will cut the number of cadets in training by 50 per cent.

The reduction, affecting primarily men leaving pre-flight stations, becomes effective June 29, it said.

In a letter to air cadets, Rear Admiral A. W. Radford, acting deputy chief of operations for air, said that cadets affected would be given "the widest practicable choice as to their future service," and would be allowed to withdraw from naval service if they desire.

U. W. Lists Summer Music

Band, orchestra, and vocal concerts will be on the University of Wisconsin's summer session calendar, Prof. Leland A. Coon, acting director of the music school's session, said Saturday.

First event will be a concert by the summer session band, directed by Prof. Raymond F. Dvorak, at 7 p. m. Friday, June 30, on the Memorial Union terrace. The band will play each Sunday night thereafter through Aug. 13.

Dvorak also will conduct a "Sunday Sing" at 7 p. m. each Sunday from July 2 through Aug. 13 in the Wisconsin Union theater.

William Pfeiffer, baritone, will present a song recital at 4:15 p. m. Sunday, July 9, in the Union theater.

The summer session orchestra, conducted by Hilmar F. Luckhardt, will play at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 9, in Music hall, and the summer session chorus, directed by Pfeiffer, will sing at 4:15 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 13, in the Union theater.

Award Winner Sells Players' Book

Pres. C. A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin took time out before leaving for Washington early this week to buy season books for the Wisconsin Players' summer productions from Mary Anne Reed, Player, and winner of the newly established Wilhelmina Neumann Dramatics award.

The award which was presented for the first time at the university honors convocation graduation week was made possible by Mrs. Fred J. Kelly, Washington, D. C., in memory of her niece, Wilhelmina Neumann, who died in December, 1942, while a junior at the university.

Miss Reed, a junior from Mansfield, O., is a speech major and has had prominent roles in Wisconsin Players' productions of "Dracula," "Pride and Prejudice," and "Night Must Fall."

The award of $100 will be given annually for five years to the junior woman who has shown the greatest promise of high achievement in dramatics.

Navy Halves Quota of Cadet Fliers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The navy announced Saturday that because of unexpectedly low casualties among navy and marine fliers it will cut the number of cadets in training by 50 per cent.

The reduction, affecting primarily men leaving pre-flight stations, becomes effective June 29, it said.

In a letter to air cadets, Rear Admiral A. W. Radford, acting deputy chief of operations for air, said that cadets affected would be given "the widest practicable choice as to their future service," and would be allowed to withdraw from naval service if they desire.

Advertisement for Music Records Albums, featuring a list of instruments and the Ward-Brook Music Company logo.

Advertisement for 'THOSE WE LOVE' radio program, featuring a starburst graphic and the text '7 p. m. Thursday WIBA'.

3 out of 10,000!

NEW YORK, June 25. Picked from 10,000 aspiring young singers all over the United States, 3 finalists will go on the air tonight to decide which one will become the General Electric Hour, of Charm's "Undiscovered Voice of America."

HEAR THEM OVER WIBA - 9 P. M. TONIGHT NBC Red Network G-E MAZDA LAMPS GENERAL ELECTRIC

Advertisement for Duotone 'STAR' SAPHIRE NEEDLE, featuring a starburst graphic and the text 'YOUR MONEY CANNOT BUY A FINER NEEDLE! GUARANTEED TO PLAY UP TO 5,000 RECORDS'.

Advertisement for Forbes Meagher Music Company, featuring the text '27 Years at 27 W. Main St. RECORDS'.