

Hedy Lamarr In Stellar Performance At State

Not all heavenly bodies have to be in the heavens Hollywood has one and her name is Hedy Lamarr and she is co-starred with William Powell in "The Heavenly Body" opening at the State theatre Thursday. Sharing the billing will be "Yellow Canary" starring Richard Greene. Courage and fortitude are displayed in the hit of the year now playing at the Ohio theatre. "The Story of Dr. Wassell," starring Gary Cooper, is the story of one of the Navy's greatest exploits.

Also many people have forgotten the break of Roger Touhy from the Stateville Prison in Joliet, Ill., the people at Chicago will never forget that gang. Playing on the screen of the Quilna theatre is "Roger Touhy, Gangster" and "Jamboree."

Never before filmed in such a realistic manner is the story of a girl, who, although loved the simple things of life, was led into the same pitfalls of her sisters generations before her. See this stirring drama at the Sigma theatre under the title "What Price Innocence."

For action and entertainment you will want to see Russell Hayden in his latest hit opening Thursday at the Lyric theatre. "The Story of Dr. Wassell" for the last time will be "Sultan's Daughter" and "Detective Kitty O'Day."

But Lee Marcus, who produced the picture showing at the Quilna theatre, has no apology for selecting Foster. "The picture is not supposed to draw a portrait of Touhy," says Marcus. "In a motion picture you would be justified in drawing a picture of Lincoln, or perhaps Jefferson or somebody else like that. But Roger Touhy is a convicted kidnaper and gangster."

"We wouldn't be justified in making a picture about Touhy, except that he is representative of an era—and, thank goodness, a passing era at that. Now Touhy is a forceful character and had we intended to make a study of that character we would have hired an actor who resembles him in appearance. We probably would have spent thousands of feet of film in showing how this insignificant appearing little man became a power in Chicago."

Showing with it is "Jamboree."

It is the common opinion that modern children are wiser than their parents — that there is nothing the 16-year-old girl need know for her personal protection. This idea, which forms the basis of "What Price Innocence?" opening at the Sigma theatre may be the prevalent opinion among the younger generation, but it is entirely false. Every city, medium sized as well as large, has the problem of looking after girls who have discovered that they were not as wise as they thought.

Ann Corio, long one of the outstanding personalities of the burlesque world, was a star the first time she appeared before an audience. Ann was only eight years old, and her vehicle was a church play, but at least she was the principal performer, and the occasion, as events turned out, indicated the pattern of her future career.

Miss Corio is playing at the Lyric theatre as the star of "The Sultan's Daughter," a lively comedy-drama of the mysterious East.

Co-featured is "Detective Kitty O'Day."

Yellow Fever Drama Told In Radio Style Wednesday
"Yellow Jack" is the second Sidney Howard play to be broadcast by "Arthur Hopkins Presents" Wednesday (WEAF, 11:30 p. m.) Howard's comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean" was produced several weeks ago. "Yellow Jack" was written by Howard in collaboration with Paul De Kruif and is based on a chapter in De Kruif's book "Microbe Hunters." It is the story of Walter Reed and his associates and their work to discover the fever breeding mosquito in Cuba. Myron McCormick and Whitford Kane, who originally played in the Guthrie McClintic stage presentation in 1934, will be playing in the principal roles by Edgar Stehli.

Key Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge," starring Phil Harris, drops in to visit the saloons at Camp Elliot, Calif., in the broadcast Wednesday at 10 p. m. over WEAF. The regular "College" faculty, including the King Sisters, Don Leslie, Sully Mason, Ish Kabbalah and the band, will be on hand for the GI session.

Senator Ford, Harry Hershfield and Joe Laurie, Jr., the rib-ticking trio of "Can You Top This," will match wits with Dunninger, the Master Mentalist, when they appear as his guest judges on Wednesday at 9 p. m. over WJZ. The brainbuster for the evening
