Uncle Ray's Corner

A Little Saturday Talk: Notes About Family Names Last spring I had a talk with a college student named Joy South, "Your name is not very common," I said. "Oh, no!" she replied. "And in one of my classes at the university there is a girl named Hope North! One morning the pro-fessor called on us, one after the other, and the members of the class took quite an interest in having both a North and a South present. Family names have come from all four of the main directions. West is the most common name of this type, and the least common are South and East. In going over the telephone directory of a large city, I found 12 families or individuals with the Music name East, and 17 with the name of South. There were 58 entries for North, not counting the many "North Side" or "North Shore" companies. West, however, was for in the lead, with 297 personal entries!

A letter has come to me from Mrs. George Coffee with an interesting note about names. "We have been reading your articles," she writes "for quite a number of years and want you to know that we enjoy them and have saved many of them. It may interest you to hear a fact about my husband's name and my maiden name. My husband's last and my maiden halves of our names spell my husband's name, and the last two halves spell my maiden name, as note:

something that happens once in a million times, "Such departments as yours help make home life interesting. May your good health continue!"

Thank you for your good wishes, Mrs. Coffee. From time to time I have heard of a Mr. Brown marry. ing a Miss Brown, or a Mr. Johnson marrying Miss Johnson, but this is the first time I have heard of persons being married with names which fit together so neatly in the way you have shown. I hardly believe that this happens as often as once in a million Probably there are other readers who have something unusual to tell about their names or the names of their friends. If so, I shall be pleased to receive letters from them.
