A Little Saturday Talk: Preventing Another World War

A few months ago, a four-yearold boy said to me, "There's going to be another World war!"
"How do you know?" I asked.

The little fellow probably had heard someone say there would be another war UNLESS somepening. Since that day, I have heard William L. Shires, a widely known newspaper man and radio speaker, take up the subject twice. Each time he said in substance: "If there is another World war, it probably will destroy the human race. Please take notice of that word "if." Wars are made by people, other World war, it will be be-cause some persons fail to do their duty in keeping one from happening. Before the present war started, people in our land and in many other places gave plain signs that they did not want war. They falled to do enough to keep war from taking place, but the great majority wanted peace, not war.
