Lima Has Nation-Wide Premiere Of Colorful Play

When Stefan Dangosbiblichek arrived at Ellis Island at the turn of the century, he had everything except enough money to gain him legal entry to the United States He had determination, sincerity, an abiding faith in America as a land of opportunity. He had a healthy, powerful body, and an alert, intelligent mind but handicapped by the inability to speak English and by lack of money.

His sincerity so impressed immigration officials that they deexded to waive the money require ment for admittance to the country So begins the story of Steve Dangos, American (Birin Donlevy). Thus begins the story of American and and industry in "An American Romance" which opens Friday at the Ohio theatie.
