

"Dancing Masters" Funniest At Lyric With Laurel-Hardy

Guaranteed to be the funniest things to come into any motion picture theatre, "Dancing Masters" starring Laurel and Hardy come to the Lyric theatre. For many years these two comedians have kept audiences literally rolling in the aisles with their crazy capers and this latest movie has apparently hit the ultimatum of their screen versatility. Unsurpassed by any other moving picture is "An American Romance" which is now playing at the Ohio theatre. Brian Donlevy has the title role and the feminine lead is played by lovely Ann Richards. Both display remarkable talent in these two roles which so typify America.

Benny Goodman and his band have set up their headquarters at the Lyric theatre and are planning to stay awhile. This is perfectly all right with jitterbugs but all dancing in the aisles is prohibited. Don't miss seeing "Sweet and Low Down."

Eddie Bracken seems to be having some trouble with his top sergeant and the sergeants in the Marines are nobody to talk back to. Yes, we'll find Eddie in plenty of jams in his latest picture "Hail the Conquering Hero" which now is playing at the Sigma theatre.

Abbott and Costello seem to have everything under control at the State theatre where they are now playing in "In Society". These two comedians somehow get hold of a fire engine and what they do from there on is unexplainable.

much more serious in their music appreciation than classical concert listeners, he started a nationwide debating debate.

The King of Swing, who is also one of the country's outstanding symphony soloists, made this statement while working on the new musical hit, "Sweet and Low Down," in which he plays both jazz and classical music.

Starr'd with Goodman in the film which is now playing at the Lyric theatre, are Linda Darnell, Lynn Bari and Jack Oakie.

"I doubt whether one symphony devotee in a thousand recognizes a player of solo passages in a symphony, or how he doesn't prove a greater interpretation from another orchestra," remarked Goodman.

And Goodman ought to know. He has been a symphony soloist under the batons of Toscanini, Koussevitzky and Stokowski, but still prefers to head his own band.

LYRIC

An event of earth-shaking importance in the literary world is in the making.

Word of it first leaked out during the shooting of the laugh riot, "The Dancing Masters," which stars Laurel and Hardy, and is scheduled to open Monday at the Lyric theatre.

Stan and Laurel are writing a book in which they are going the other Hollywood actor-literature one step better. They're writing a dual autobiography tentatively titled, "Through Thick and Thin."

The book will tell of the many experiences each half of the famous comedy team has encountered in his years before the camera. The chapters are being alternately written by each of the stars. Thus, even if the book doesn't prove a greater interpretation than any other autobiography ever written, it will, at least, be twice as funny.

DeMille when the full-hour dramatic show marks its 10th successful year on the airwaves. Monday at 8 p. m. Lima time, over Station WABC. Daily headlines scream of action in the Pacific. Newsreels show us pictures of our boys battling their way to key positions against ferocious and fanatic Nips. Now comes "Cavalcade of America" to picture for us at home the lighter, more human side of a struggle that is grim at its best.

Bob Hope, the comedian with a heart, will be starred on "Cavalcade of America," in "Report from the Pacific," over Station WABC, Monday, at 7 p. m. The vehicle will be a script written by Glenn Wheaton, a past master at the art of capturing GI jargon, as displayed on such shows as "Command Performance." With Hope will be Frances Langford, the popular singer, and Jerry Colonna, famous for his funny songs and patter.

Navy "sky pilots" sea chaplains who carry the torch of spiritual worship into combat, braving enemy fire aboard ship and on moral support to blue jackets and Marine fighters, will describe their war experiences as "sailors of God" to Parks Johnson and Warren Hull on the Vox Pop program from Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va., on Monday, at 7 p. m. over WABC.

British sailors' neckerchiefs were changed to black in 1885, to commemorate the death of Lord Nelson.
