

Kyser - Hope Show To Jump Season For Servicemen

Because servicemen overseas customarily hear their radio program by transcription, six weeks after their original broadcast, Kay Kyser and his guest star, Bob Hope, will do their Christmas broadcasting early this year, on Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge," Wednesday at 9 p. m., Lima time, over Station WEAF. With Hope as guest Santa Claus, an hour of hilarity will be broadcast from the Navy's War Loan exhibit, "The Pacific Theatre" in Chicago. For the first time since the war began, an audience composed 50 per cent of civilian War Bond purchasers will see Kyser and Hope in action on a broadcast. The entire broadcast, less only the commercial messages, will be transcribed for shipment overseas, and every effort will be made to deliver the records to all the fighting fronts in time for Christmas broadcast. Appearance of Hope on the Kyser show represents a swap, with Kyser appearing on the Hope show the preceding night.

Alan Ladd, ace tough-guy of the screen, is called on for the toughest job of his career, with a butcher knife as his only weapon, during the "Eddie Cantor Show" over WEAF Wednesday, at 9 p. m. "Mr. and Mrs. North" start out to prevent a suicide and end up investigating a murder, when "The Norths Stop a Jump," on Wednesday at 7 p. m. over Station WEAF. The body of the victim turns up, conveniently enough, at the site of the promised suicide, and the Norths are off on another of their thrill-and-laugh-packed chases.

EDUCATION AIDS TIES BETWEEN AMERICAS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 22 (UP)—Education is the best foundation for the "Good Neighbor" policy among the Americas, according to Roberto Valencia, El Salvador educator, and one of 10 Latin American representatives studying American educational systems.

On his recent visit to Pennsylvania State College, Valencia stated:

"Only thru continuation and expansion of educational interchange—students, teachers, and information—can the peoples of the two countries learn to know each other.

Valencia pointed out that the people of El Salvador are vitally interested in the United States, and nearly every home has a picture of one of the great North American historical characters.

MATANUSKANS HAVE PLENTY OF STEAKS, BUTTER

PALMER, Alaska, Nov. 22 (UP)—To farmers in this frost-painted valley under the cloud-scraping snow peaks of the Chugach Range, food rationing in the States seems strange, indeed, because the housewives here actually have more food available than they know what to do with.

Butter, steaks, milk, cream and other hard-to-get commodities can be had in any quantity at the local co-operative trading post, and as a result the Matanuska probably are the best fed people under the American flag.

"Have another steak," Mrs. Roland Snodgrass, wife of the co-operative manager, invites you when you lean back from her dinner table to loosen your belt surtously. "Have some more butter."

You get the real clotted cream for your coffee, and for dessert there is ice cream so rich in butterfat that a dish of it is almost a meal in itself.

The Matanuska valley in the past three years has become the bread basket of the North. Products are shipped to civilian consumers at such remote points as the distant Yukon villages and to Army posts in the Aleutian combat bases. The farmers themselves are prosperous and are so healthy that their local doctors devote their time chiefly to bringing babies into the world.

"We've come a long way since the days when people referred to us as red plush pioneers," a grinning farmer tells you. "I guess most of us could qualify as scoundrels ourselves now. We've been here nine years, and some of the children we brought North are grown up, married and have children of their own."

To visitors fresh from the United States, the valley is a land of milk and honey—probably the only place in America in which a housewife feels offended if you don't help yourself to a second steak.

NEW CORN A 'BEAUTY'
HICKORY FLAT, Miss (UP)—Farmer Philip Johnston of Hickory Flat has developed a new breed of corn which he says will yield 100 bushels to the acre. Whether the yield will be this great or not remains to be seen, but if the new strain lives up to its name, it'll be powerful stuff. He has named it 'Johnson's Profitic Mortgage Lifter'.

Judy, An Elephant, Laughs In Trunk At Men's Woes

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (UP)—Figuratively speaking, Judy, 3,000 pounds of temperamental elephant, must have been laughing in her trunk today.

Judy, imported from a Sheboygan, Wis., circus to play the part of Eddie, in the book, "Eddie, the Elegant Elephant," spent two hours yesterday autographing books in the book department of Marshall Field and Co.'s department store.

Judy used a rubber stamp which she held in her trunk to autograph the books, and she did very well at it too.

Then came closing time, and Judy balked at taking the elevator down three flights to the ground floor. It was the same elevator she had ridden up on, but Judy objected to the return trip and all the coaxing by her trainer, Capt. Henry Thompson, couldn't change her mind. She just sat down, all 3,000 pounds of her, and looked perplexed.

A hurried telephone call to the Brookfield zoo brought the suggestion that perhaps Judy would walk down if a ramp was built. So carpenters were called and hastily constructed a three-story ramp. Five hours later, Judy tested the completed ramp gingerly, gave it her official approval, and lumbered majestically out of the building.

P. S. The balance of Judy's two-day scheduled appearance at Marshall Field's was cancelled.

WHITE ON BLACK PLATES FOUND EASIEST TO READ

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 22 (UP)—Dr. Curt E. Berger, assistant in the Physics Department at Cornell university, believes the automobile license plate easiest to read would have white figures on a black background, with a white frame around the numerals.

After more than 12,000 tests with human eyes here and in Denmark, Berger has designed a series of numbers which give up to 40 per cent better legibility than those currently used on license plates.

Design, width of line, and proportionate area of numerals are more important than size in increasing legibility of license plates and traffic signs, he says. His improvement is effected by changing the form of numerals, spacing them scientifically, and by narrowing the width of the stroke which forms the figures.

For numerals with an area of 42 by 80 millimeters, white on a black background, Berger finds the optimum stroke-width for daylight vision to be 6 mm., which is about one-third the width of a 3-cent stamp. Black numerals on a white background, however, must have stroke width of 10 mm. for greatest legibility.

Where white figures are on a black background—and if the stroke width of the frame or border is the same as that of the figures, and if it is placed in a certain distance from them—it increases legibility about 9 per cent.

But here you don't want YOUR neck out

A man sort of feels his conscience ache if he hurts his car—now needed so badly by his country and himself. He wouldn't harm it on purpose. Yet that fact can't prevent killing off precious days of wartime transportation—besides piling up expense and annoyance—by thoughtlessly waiting a while to get anti-freeze. Don't put it off; put it in! As a rule you'll still be able to get your car's supply of genuine Super Pyro anti-freeze—at the anti-luxury price that only begins to suggest the all-Winter economy of using Super Pyro.

Inexpensive in the first place, Super Pyro doesn't always call for "more!" It resists the HEAT—that's why! Winter WARMTH is common, and normal engine HOTNESS is 160 degrees! Yet that doesn't heavily subtract from your Super Pyro. Cold's swing-back doesn't find your Super Pyro gone. It's so highly heat-safe that it keeps your car all the more cold-safe. You need yours right now at the latest.
