

Musical Program, Bob Hope To Feature War Bond Show

Things are going to be running in high gear Thursday night as the Ohio theatre presents a gala War Bond premiere with the feature attraction being Bob Hope in his latest picture since he returned from the war fronts, "The Princess and the Pirate."

All thru the first week of the Sixth War Loan drive, theatre-goers have received tickets whenever they purchased a bond and this ticket will admit them to this outstanding premiere. You still have time to get one of these tickets just by buying a War Bond.

On stage will be the combined a cappella choirs from Central and South high schools. The Seventh Grade Boys' choir also will be a part of the attraction with all musical units under the direction of William G. Tempel, director of music in Lima public schools.

Carmen Miranda is at her best in "Something for the Boys." Without a doubt you have noticed the many costumes which Miss Miranda always wears thruout her many pictures.

Believe it or not you haven't seen a thing until you see her in a pair of blue jeans, an old shirt and an apron with a dish towel wrapped around her head in typical Miranda style, and in her hands, instead of clicking castanets; a scrub-brush. See her now in "Something for the Boys" showing at the Quilna theatre.

Tuning back the pages of history almost 2,000 years, the screen unfolds the "Sign of the Cross" at the Sigma theatre. The modernized version of the great spectacle is as awe-inspiring today as when the real history was made.

You saw him in "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" and you thought that was funny, wait until you see "Hail the Conquering Hero." This movie is one of the craziest, most preposterous movies ever to be produced in Hollywood.
