944 National Income Hits New $159 Billion Andaman Isles Now Are Tops Record Strategically Important

Mark Of 1943 By ROGER W. BABSON

National income includes wages, salaries, rents, interest, profits and net return to professional people, farmers and individual enterprises. It is the aggregate of the incomes of all the individuals of a nation. Gross national product differs from national income in that it includes depreciation charges and certain business taxes. Therefore, it is larger than the national income. It is estimated that the national income for 1944 was $159 billion sudden appearance of a new basas compared to $148 billion in 1943; ketball puts Junior under a cloud while the gross national product with his family on "The Life of is estimated at $197 billion, a new Riley" comedy session, starring high and the largest in history.
