

'Double Exposure' Brings Film Of Murder, Drama To Sigma

Pitched to a thrilling note, is the picture opening Wednesday at the Sigma theatre under the title "Double Exposure" which stars Nancy Kelly and Chester Morris. It's the story of editors, news photographers, headlines and even murder and puts Miss Kelly in the role of a trick news photographer. Co-featured will be the picture "Her Lucky Night" with Martha O'Driscoll and Noah Beery, Jr.

A change in schedule has been made at the Ohio theatre and the picture "Woman in the Window" starring Joan Bennett and Edward G. Robinson will bow out.

The picture which will come in to replace this movie Tuesday will be "The Merry Monahans" with Donald O'Connor, Peggy Ryan and Jack Oakie.

Never before has any motion picture so probed the depths of the hearts of real, flesh-and-blood people—never has the screen been so filled with such richness, tenderness and joyous understanding as is revealed in the picture "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" now playing at the Quina theatre.

The year's most sensational newcomer is Lauren Bacall, currently appearing opposite Humphrey Bogart in the exciting new dramatic hit, "To Have and Have Not" now at the State theatre. Overwhelmingly acclaimed "The Look" by the nation's press, Miss Bacall graphically illustrates what they meant in this rapidly moving film.

"Mr. Winkle Goes to War" as a novel was a best-seller and as a moving picture is a best-of-the-year. In this story about a shy, timid ex-bank clerk in the army, Robinson forsakes his familiar gangster roles and is said to give a performance which will warm the hearts of all Americans. "Mr. Winkle Goes to War" is now playing at the Lyric theatre.

"Money in the House" can complicate life as well as simplify it, the Fosters discover on "A Date With Judy," at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, over Station WEAF. Oison Welles, new host and narrator on "This Is My Best," makes his debut on that program at 8:30 p. m. over Station WABC, when he stars in a stirring dramatization of Joseph Conrad's classic, "Heart of Darkness."
