I am sure the West Side Business Men's basketball banquet is all sold out for this Monday nite. It will be at the Park hotel for the West basketball team and Edgewood, both state champs.

Over 250 will be there and it's chicken folks and the trim-

John Westmont says he is about out of tickets and there can't be over five left. At this writing they might be all gone no doubt they are.

Joe Woolsey, the toastmaster, says he will come up with some big league stuff.

Two girls who like to make the up-down spots at nite picked up couple guys the other nite now they are yelling their heads off. They got no beef coming. They were looking for catch and ran into couple tough cookies. It's their fault. That is bad business folks.

You can never tell about man from the way he dresses and combs his hair so nice.

Yours truly, Joe Chappell.

Well Joe, thanks for wanting to paint them for me. So you are just nine years old that is what I love kids reading my column. Shipping golf balls would be worse than shipping eigarettes boys come back from overseas If Joe. I thank you for wanting to paint them but I got them home they are crazy. Like pro football and I am going to keep them had last year they never should have and I am going to keep them ba- last year they never should have bies planted there.
