The butcher shops ain't got no meat. The restaurants are out of meats. They got the whole thing jammed up like women at a bargain counter at hosiery sale.

And nothing else but politics is what did it. And the black market guys are tickled pink over it.

Take them points off meats at once its only chance the public has to break up and get the odds against black market stuff.

The people are taken as bunch of suckers and its about time they wake up. Washington is just honeycombed with experts and smart guys trying to run the other guy's business.

If the mothers of this country can get even break they will break that black market up in a hurry. And the only chance they got is to take the points off meats and run a black market, teller out of biz.

Jimmy Demetral better get more tickets printed as this bear is going to draw the people into that park Monday nite.

And get them tickets at once is a sweet bunch of advice to you folks who will get there this Monday nite.

People are not interested who is on the card. Its bring on the bear for this morning.

Eddie Heinz and Don Woodward were in Milwaukee to the boxing matches they were ringside gents and sat in with the silk hats.

Had a pheasant, well one nice one and rather all one. Guy Hegan of Cuba club says get them here and Phill will cook them to queen's taste. Well I did it and how they were cooked brother and did I park it.

The Charlie Parham and Bob Richardson fight in Milwaukee was really a fight the other night. You never seen such a thing it is a wonder they didn't kill each other.

Richardson was quite a ways out in front on points. When Parham hit him with two real punches on the jaw then when he got up he cracked him with a left hook to the body that was all for the evening. This was in the eighth round.

It was certainly a Fan's Eighth Round fight they were cheering like wild people they like that slugger stuff.

Jimmy Demetral is trying to get Parham to fight here in Madison in July. If he does he will have no trouble selling tickets.

We of Commissioner fined Lew Sauer a manager $50 and suspended him for thirty days. I was the one that suggested we fine him and suspend him.

I guess he didn't like it. I don't care if he did or not he ain't going to pull that stuff. I am on the Commission to be tough with them when they start getting away out of line. I don't care who they are they can't use those tactics from the ring. I am not on the Commission to be a softy. When they do something unfair like that I am going to call them and how.

Port Riley, Kansas.

Just a few lines to tell you I am stationed in Fort Riley, Kansas in the C. P. T. C. Buck Rogers finally got a horse. Yes there is horses here every direction you look. One particular troop has about two hundred of them. We are very proud of our outfit we are in and have been told that the place has an enviable reputation as a training camp since 1853. Such men as Eisenhower, Patton and Arnold have trained here during their careers.

I will tell you Roundy of one rather bad experience we had in our troop the past weeks. Thursday our training schedule called for a fifteen mile hike. I did not go because I was assigned to kitchen police for the day. Some of the troopers were detained in the morning and were taken out to catch the troop at noon. Someone on the road reported a troop ped over killing a trooper by the name of McGuire from Portland, Oregon. He leaves a wife and three children. Yesterday we attended services for him here at camp. I thought perhaps it would be interesting to you to know how a service is conducted for a deceased trooper. Our troop assembled in mass formation with a six man front in our area street in two sections. A staff sergeant was in charge of each section. The order of the procession was this: Colors, with color guard and guide on. Next was our Regimental band which is very classy. Next was the honor guard which consisted of eight men. After this came the six honorary pallbearers. Next came the eight active pallbearers and we were all in the same position after we left the Chapel. Then came the most touching part of all. The trooper's horse covered with a black blanket, a black hood, boots tucked backward in the stirrups and rifle scaffold hanging empty on the saddle. He was led by a trooper. Next came the troop in two sections. We marched to the Chapel at three thirty and had services for thirty minutes. The procession then stepped forward from the band and sounded taps. The body was then placed in waiting funeral coach and the trooper started back to his loved ones that he had left just six weeks ago.

This is about all that time permitted to write. I am Roundy, and I will appreciate it if you can drop me a line when it is convenient.

As ever
Your friend,
Pvt. Buck Rogers.

U. S. Accuses 12 Companies

Charges Suppression of Competition

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The justice department today charged 12 manufacturing companies, a patent-holding company, and a trade association with conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, to suppress competition in the manufacture and sale of certain vital railway equipment.

Attorney General Francis Biddle announced filing of a civil suit in U. S. district court at Hammond, Ind., against the companies, who make and sell railway springs and spring plates.

The companies named are American Locomotive Co., New York; American Spiral Spring & Manufacturing Co., Pittsburgh; American Steel Foundries, Hammond, Ind.; Baldwin Locomotive Works, Eddystone, Pa.; Crucible Steel Company of America, New York; Fort Pitt Spring Co., McKees Rocks, Pa.

Pittsburgh Spring & Steel Co., Pittsburgh; Union Spring & Manufacturing Co., New Kensington, Pa.; Symington-Gould Corp., Rochester, N. Y.; Universal Rail way Devices Co., Chicago; Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Corp., Glassport, Pa.; and the Railway & Industrial Spring association, Pittsburgh.

The complain charges that the defendants "have combined and conspired to suppress competition" by fixing prices and allocating customers among themselves.

Artificially high prices for such equipment, Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said, necessarily result in higher transportation rates.

Lightning Bolt Gave Japs Help

Superior Soldier Tells How Outfit Was Hit

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sgt. Anthony Thillman, 43rd infantry division rifle squad leader who formerly was a machinist's helper at railway roundhouse in Superior, Wis., told in a dispatch released today by the war department how his squad was strafed on one mission by a bolt of lightning as well as bullets from Jap guns in the Luzon hills.

Sgt. Thillman explained that he was wounded as he climbed a bank to look for the enemy, after a lull in enemy firing which had kept his squad pinned in a small drawback from the ridge of a bare hill. The bullet which hit him in the left arm injured a nerve.

The squad retired behind a smoke screen. They retired wading through hip-deep water and dug in on a mountainside after returning to their battalion.

In the middle of the night he said, "there was a crash that sounded like a big artillery shell exploding on us, then the sound of a machine gun. I'll swear I was lifted at least three feet off the ground.

"Lightning had struck the hill, two men close to me were burned pretty badly. The small arms fire must have been from a machine gun or Browning automatic rifle being struck."

Thieves Steal, Kill Brodhead Heifer

MONROE—The Green county sheriff's department was called Friday to investigate the theft and slaughter of a heifer belonging to Marion Condon, Brodhead.

The heifer was stolen from a rented pasture east of Sugar river, slaughtered, and the refuse thrown into the river. A hatchet with which the killing was evidently done was found on the river bank. The butchering of the animal was extremely clumsy.

Dairy Farmers Plan Advertising Program

Wisconsin dairy farmers next month will begin a fund-raising campaign to support an aggressive nationwide advertising and research program to help overcome the threat of a price-shattering post-war milk surplus.

Payments will be made through voluntary deductions from milk or cream checks at the rate of one-half cent a pound of butterfat in milk or cream checks. The deductions will be made on the basis of milk marketed during June.

The program, sponsored by the American Dairy association, is designed to encourage greater dairy product consumption, so that farmers will not have to cut their production and return to an economic theory of "shared scarcity," the ADA said.

Change Regulations for Insured Mail

Importance of following written directions on new receipt forms for insured domestic mail, which will be used after July 1, was emphasized by Postmaster W. J. Hyland today.

New Regulations provide for insurance of parcels valued at $5 and less at a minimum fee of 3 cents.

But neither the sender's minimum payment of 50 cents per hundredweight on goods, nor the parcel will be assigned an insured serial number and the names and addresses of recipients will not be entered on the receipts by the postoffice clerk. These must be written in by the mailers, Hyland explained.

The receipts then should be delivered to the addressee, to be used in making inquiries or filing claims for indemnity in case of loss.

commercial fertilizer will be needed on farm land if wartime production goals are to be met, and that farmers throughout the states are now formulating plans for a sound post-war agricultural program.

KAUAI, Hawaiian Islands (U.P.)—Lieut. Lawrence Riemer, Merrill, Wis., recently was one of 10 members of the crew of a B-24 Liberator bomber who got a salt-water dunking while flying from the United States to a base here.

The "air scoop" serviceman's newspaper published here reported that somewhere over the Pacific ocean two of the plane's engines blazed into flames. Aware that the plane couldn't be crashed landed, the pilot ordered his crew to "hit the silk."

"Air Scoop" reported that all of the men parachuted into the ocean without serious injury and that within two hours every one of them was aboard a tanker whose crew had seen the Liberator go down. The pickup was accomplished in a short while, although the bomber's crew had scattered over quite a wide area of ocean. Riemer was bombardier aboard the plane.

The day's speakers, which included Joseph C. Ceder, Andrew J. Melf, Frank W. Carpenter, and Louis P. Ternes, a fieldman, pointed out that Dane county's dairy feed payments are among the highest in the state; that enormous quantities of lime and com-
