'China Sky' Continues Its Run With Thriller At The Sigma

Due to popular demand the films "China Sky" and "Two O'Clock Courage" are being held over at the Sigma theatre.

"China Sky," starring Randolph Scott, Ruth Warrick, and Ellen Drew is the screen adaptation of Pearl S. Buck's novel of China and her heroic guerrilla fighters. "Two O'clock Courage" tells of a man who solved a murder mystery with the aid of a hard knock on the head, Few, if any, will turn down a chance to see a comedy-romance if there is one in town. Right now, there hapens to be one at the Ohio theatre and is playing under the title of "The Affairs of Susan." Joan Fontaine is a new person in her tole of Susan, and as a comedienne she's tops.

Two pictures which have returned to the Quilna theatre by popular request are "Tobacco Road" and "Grapes of Wiath." Both films, when first released, brought huge crowds to the boxoffice all over the United States. As co-features they are certain to top almost anything.

A picture which will stir your heart with emotion is the film "Music for Millions" currently playing at the State theatre. Starring such notables as little Margaret O'Brien, Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante, Jose Iturbi, June Allyson and Marsha Hunt, it tells of the life of one girl who, like many others, must support herself and a family while her husband is away.

Gene Autry has returned in a film which is certain to make every western-loving fan happy-In a re-release of "Rootin' Tootin' Rhythm" Autry sings many of the songs which are so well-loved by
