Movies Offer Wide Variety For Sabbath

Celebrating the end of the war still remains uppermost in about everyone's mind, but, doubtless, they want to do it in a less boisterous manner than displayed last Tuesday night. A good way to do so is to be found at the local show houses this Sabbath.

The Ohio theatre doesn't stop at celebrating V-J Day—over there they're celebrating Christmas too. Yes, the film "Christmas In Connecticut" which was ushered in only recently has really started something. It's getting people in the mood for the Yuletide so Dec. 25 better get around here soon.

"Don Juan Quilligan," the new uproarious screen comedy of a great lover who couldn't say no to either of the two girls and married both is currently showing at the Quilna theatre. Starring William Bendix, Joan Blondell and Phil Silvers, the fast-moving, laugh-packed hit features Bendix, who had never won a girl in all his screen career, as one of the greatest lovers of all time.

Van Johnson and Esther Williams are to be seen currently playing at the Sigma theatre in "Thill Of A Romance." The film was held over for a few days at this theatre in order to permit those who had not seen the film to do so.

Revealing intimately and vividly the heroic resistance of the Filipino to Japanese domination, "Back To Ezean" stars John Wayne in one of the year's most unusual and gripping screen offerings. The film opening Sunday at the State theatre has Wayne in the role of Colonel Madden who, shortly before the fall of Bataan, was ordered into the hills to organize guerrilla troops among the natives.

The role, like all the principal ones in the film, is based on a real-life character, an American officer whose name cannot now be revealed but who was sent out by General MacArthur to do very much the job Madden accomplishes in the picture.

Two films certain to delight those who take a fancy to both mystery and western films are coming to the Lyric theatre Monday in the "Whispering Skull" and "Oh Susanna."
