

'Tarzan' Weismuller Tangles With Vicious Jungle Panther

A mystery tribe of women in the principal feature of "Tarzan and the Amazons," Johnny Weismuller's latest starring vehicle, based on the world-famous Edgar Rice Burroughs stories, opening Wednesday at the State theatre.

The current offering deals with an Amazon group who live in a hidden mountain valley in the heart of Africa and kill all strangers who invade their privacy. Only Tarzan knows the secret route to their retreat and he uses it to rescue a wandering Amazon from a panther, leading her back to her people, followed by Boy and Cheta, the chimpanzee.

A great character role especially tailored to his talents is played by Gary Cooper in the adventure-romance, "Along Came Jones," co-starring Loretta Young. The tall actor portrays a whimsical but obscure Texan who yearns to have people think he is important. When he and a friend ride into a little border town where all the inhabitants treat him with exaggerated politeness, he feels he is getting somewhere. This notion quickly evaporates when he discovers he has been mistaken for a notorious outlaw, and that it is up to him to endeavor to make good. The film is currently showing at the Ohio theatre.

Rating applause as one of the season's most unusual comedy-dramas, "That's The Spirit" is now playing at the Sigma theatre. Co-starring in this film which has as its chief locale, heaven, 'way up yonder, are Jack Oakie and Peggy Ryan, recently teamed so successfully in the "Merry Monarchs." It is in this heaven that the spirit of a deceased vaudeville magician decides to return to earth in order to re-adjust the lives and affairs of some former relatives, namely a wife and an ambitious daughter. Once again as the ex-performer while June Vincent and Miss Ryan form the mother-daughter combination.

Motion picture fantasies, of course, have been numerous. However, where fantasy and satire have been combined, the motion picture producers have not always been so successful. Now, the film at the Quilna theatre has both of these and folks seem to love it. "A Thousand and One Nights" has the sweep of magnificent pageantry and elegance with that certain touch of romance and comedy which is so seldom found in pictures.

Public Enemy No. 1—that title was given to John Dillinger, the man who had the United States in a turmoil of crime in the twenties. Now, his life has been recorded for us in film form and is currently showing at the Lyric theatre under the title of "Dillinger." The film traces his life from time he started the crime wave right up to his death.

'Counterspies' Foil Jap Plot To Steal Atomic Bomb Secret

David Harding, chief of the U. S. Counterspies, foils a Japanese plot to steal the secret of the atomic bomb in "The Case of the Hole in the Ground," an exciting adventure to be aired Wednesday at 10 p. m. over WJZ.

A young wife's desire for possessions brings her husband to grips with "Mr. District Attorney" in "The Case of the Traveling Rat" on Wednesday at 9:30 p. m. Proving that the fight against juvenile delinquency must go on, a teen-age girl leaves her home, job, and husband for the glamour of owning her own car and drives straight down the criminal road to a dead end.

Hollywood's costliest counter-espionage arrives at Cantor's Cozy Cabana on "Wednesday With You," to be heard Wednesday at 9 p. m., over WFAA and at once it costs the broken-down mountain resort's clientele their bare-footed comforts.

The story of Tom Paine, the "father of liberty," will be told on "The Human Adventure," in its broadcast Wednesday at 10 p. m., over Station WOR. Paine, an outstanding spokesman for the cause of American independence, wrote the pamphlet "Common Sense," which served to bring to a focus the grievances of the American colonists against the British, and was an important factor in uniting the Americans for the Revolutionary war. Sherman H. Dryer directs "The Human Adventure." Henry Webber conducts the music, written especially for the series by Kenneth Churchill.
