

Rising Young Star Takes Lead Role In Sigma's New Picture

Gloria Jean is that rapidly rising singing star who has been cast in several leading roles during her screen career and who will probably go to greater fame.

She will be seen in the top spot in "River Gang" which will open at the Sigma theatre Wednesday. The film tells of a group of youngsters who try to combat mobsters without the aid of the police and who later are trapped by a gang of ruthless criminals. "Why Girls Leave Home" is the movie which shares the bill.

Ernie Pyle did not choose the much-glorified air force about which to write his column—he chose the infantryman, the GI, the guy who squished thru muddy Italy and into the heart of the Reich. In the film "The Story of GI Joe" at the Ohio theatre is told the heroism displayed by those men who fought and died for what they loved most, and what Ernie—the GI's columnist—wrote about them.

Irene Dunne is the typical career-wife in the picture "Over 21" now showing at the Quilna theatre. Between she, Charles Coburn, and Alexander Knox things keep rolling at a steady pace in this comedy-romance. Sharing the billing is "Rhythm Round-Up."

Steel, one of the main-stays of the United States—the making of it proves to be the story of "Valley of Decision" now playing at the State theatre starring Greer Garson and Gregory Peck. The war proved what could be done with the materials which the United States had on hand, but it also proved that had the men, a number of years ago, experimented to uncover the deep potentialities of this metal, our hands would have been tied.

Not much has been heard of juvenile delinquents of late, but they are certain to crop up again before very many more months pass by. Showing why something must be done to keep the cap on the bottle which holds this explosive material known better as "youth" is "Youth On Trial" the
