"Junior Miss" Is Termed Tops In Film Hilarity

"Junior Miss," the Broadway stage sensation that kept New York howling for two straight years, has been filmed into what is being called one of the most joyously uproarious hits of the year. Starring Peggy Ann Garner with an outstanding supporting cast, the picture, which is currently showing at the Quilna theatre, will surpass even the stage version in heart-happy hilarity and gay excitement.

The film tells the scream-packed story of a madcap junior miss, Peggy Ann Garner, whose vivid imaginations, conjures up a nonexisting triangle involving her unsuspecting mother and father (who love each other dearly) and the innocent daughter of her father's boss.

Lizabeth Scott, new star currently to be seen at the Ohio theatre in "You Came Along" is good competition for that other star who in one picture boosted her rating as a star, Lauren Bacall. Miss Scott has a low, lilting voice that, the some won't admit it, sends chills up and down the spine. Sharing the limelight with her is Robert Cummings, Don De-Fore and Charles Drake.

A return picture of one of Van Johnson's earliest films. "Born For Trouble, will open at the Sigma theatre Saturday. Many Lima folks have been wondering how Van broke into the spotlight so suddenly. Truth of the matter is, he didnt do it suddenly-he worked up to it. This you will see from the film which will open Saturday. Sharing the bill is "It All Came True," with Humphrey Bogart and Ann Sheridan.

When two reporters are out to get a story for their respective papers, anythings fair, from hiding the corpse, to turning the otaer fellow over to the police. Such is the case in "Midnight Manhunt" the film which is currently playing at the State theatre starring Ann Savage and William Gargan. Co-featured is "Johnny Angel" with George Raft and Signe Hasso.
