Well I am staying home.
That trip to Columbus is terrific. You couldn't get seat in train I am sure and standing going and coming would be about the setup.

I wish some people would wish some people would write a nice letter to Miss June Dillon who is in the Wisconsin General Hospital, Madison, Wisconsin, Her room number is 408. She is just 16 years old and has spent about eight months in the hos-pital. A little letter, postcard, or something like that would be wonderful. She is a nice little kid.

 A reader of one of those papers.

Here is the clipping it is called "Random Shots:" When Madison officials recently established a city parking lot it was presumed that the lot would be for the accommodation of patrons of Madison business men, and that it would be free to such patrons. But there is nothing free in Madison if the city boys can help it. About three years ago the good people of Madison in a referendum voted three to one to oust the parking meters, but they are still there to filch the nickels from rural patrons who spend their money with the city's business men. The boys in the city hall are missing a good bet-perhaps we should-n't suggest it-but why not place toll gates at the en-trance of the city. It would draw a few more nickels from the rural populace. In refusing to remove the meters it is evident that the city fathers

(Continued from Preceding Page) for their final tally after East had run only four plays. After Kivi returned Hanson's punt to East's 39, Makarewicz needed six trys, one a 17-yard pass from Kivi to push it over. His last attempt was from a yard out. Patton's kick was no good,

The win for Kenosha leaves it tied for the conference lead with Racine Park, each having three straight wins. East is now tied for third with two wins and one for third with two wins and one defeat. Summary:
