

Brawn, Brains Featured In Ohio's "Great John L."

Remember the days when brawn and muscles were the by-word of every man. Well, so it goes today! In the film, "The Great John L." opening Thursday at the State theatre, this is shown quite plainly.

Brawn and brains occupy the high spot in this film which tells of the life of John L. Sullivan—of his career beginning with boxing and into the career of a temperance worker.

"Rhapsody in Blue," the film which has been playing at the Ohio theatre for the past week, will close Thursday following its last showing. George Gershwin will always remain an immortal member of the music world and will never be forgotten by Lima folk.

To prove that the Japanese went past the international code of laws to torture American prisoners of war is shown in "The Purple Heart" the film now showing at the Quina theatre. Sharing the billing is "Sleepytime Gal" with Judy Canova.

Public demand once again stepped in to make a picture stay for a few more days. At the Sigma theatre this time, "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes" was held over. "First Yank in Tokyo" and "Pardon Us" will be the features coming up Saturday.

When a bride-to-be is accused of murder, that is not a very nice wedding present. Some of the things which take place in "Three's a Crowd" now showing at the Lyric theatre, will startle any level-minded movie fan but the mystery is terrific. Sharing the bill is "Sagebrush Heroes."

"Timber Queen" the story is just about like what the title says it is. Mary Beth Hughes is the owner of a huge area of timber but if the taxes are not paid, the bank will foreclose on the property. In steps Richard Arlen to save the day. The picture is currently showing at the Allen theatre.
