

"In Hollywood," Sigma Film, Held Over Until Saturday

Comedy fans are having their pleas answered in the fact that "In Hollywood," starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, playing at the Sigma theatre, is being held over for a few more days.

The film, showing these two master comedians at their funniest, shows Hollywood in a "mess". The antics which they pull are something new and help keep the audience in stitches, literally speaking.

Speaking of thriller-chillers, there's one currently showing at the Ohio theatre under the title of "Mildred Pierce," and starring Joan Crawford in that role. It tells of the sacrifice made by a woman and has a peculiarly sharp and surprising ending. If you see it don't tell your friends how it ends.

Shirley Temple, the little curly top who grew up to be a glamorous young star, has the time of her life in "Kiss and Tell," now showing at the Quilna theatre. The film is recommended for adults and will prove to be a highly humorous nature to them. Sharing the billing is Sydney Toler in "Shanghai Cobra."

SO WHAT? COME ON!

BY JUPITER, RUGGLES—I WILL GO WITH YOU!

IT WILL DO THE POOR LITTLE GUY GOOD!

Medical authorities in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations, U. S. Army, have estimated that in one year enough adhesive tape was used in the theatre to make a solid one-inch strip 3,750 miles long.

Forum Has War Aftermath As Discussion Topic Tuesday

The aftermath of war and attending disillusionments will form the basis of the discussion entitled "Are We Facing a Moral Breakdown in America?" on the "American Forum of the Air" at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Ann Shepherd and Richard Widmark co-star behind Your Host, Paul McGrath's crackling door in "The Dreadful Hunch," the story of a man whose ghastly hunches always come true, to be broadcast as the "Inner Sanctum" mystery over the week at 9 p. m. Tuesday over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

A bridge collapses but his hunch saves him—a Ferris wheel spills its occupants but his premonition spares him and his wife-to-be... a train is wrecked as he intuitively knows it will be—but that's where an uncanny premonition leads to a fatal miscalculation.

Agnes Moorehead and Ray Collins are the co-stars when "This Is My Best" presents a radio version of "Colonel Paxton and the Haunted Horse," at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The story has an unusual comic theme.

Mike (the Falcon) Waring flies to Mexico City for a much-needed vacation, but finds that sometimes "Death Takes An Excursion" too, in the "Adventures of the Falcon" drama to be heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

As frequently happens with the debonair Falcon, he makes the acquaintance of a young lady on the plane and arranges to date her when they arrive at Mexico City, but when Mike calls for her, he finds her badly beaten up and subsequently accused of murder. All this being too much for the Falcon's strong sense of chivalry, he puts his quick wits and formidable fists at the service of the distressed damsel with happy results for all except the murderer.

YOUTH LOSES ONE EYE CANTON, Nov. 13 — (AP) — Fourteen-year-old William Patchin lost the sight of one eye and three fingers of his right hand playing with a dynamite cap which he found at a gas well being drilled in the northwest section of the city. The youth's companions told his father, C. L. Patchin, clerk at the Canton postoffice, the cap was being ground on an emery wheel when it exploded.
