

Diversified Movie Entertainment In Store

Local Films Featured By Ohio Treat

With the close of the football season nearly on everyone's doorstep, something else will have to be substituted for these. Well, old faithful—the movie—is still in Lima, and this reviewer has it that the movie will prove to be the main source of diversion for a while.

Making a good start in the film now at the Ohio theatre, "Love Letters," starring Joseph Cotten and Jennifer Jones. A mystery-romance all rolled into one picture is certainly something to look forward to seeing. A man, knowing as to what circumstances might prevail, agreed to write another man's love letters and the consequences of this deal are startling. The suffering of several people which is brought on by these love letters is the source of the title of the film.

Coming to the Quilna theatre Monday will be the technicolor treat of technicolor treats and that is "Crash Dive," with Tyrone Power, also "The Gang's All Here," with James Ellison, Alice Faye and Phil Baker. Both films promise to afford some really "spiffy" entertainment with a capital "E" for both run as single features in the not too distant past. The former tells of a submarine and its crew and the many harrowing experiences the crew endured together while the latter is a musical comedy.

A down-to-earth story of people who raise that cotton which goes into your summer clothing and part of your winter clothes too—that's "The Southerner," with Zachary Scott and Betty Field, now at the Sigma theatre. When the battle with nature seems a little too tough for him to endure, his family shows that then is the time "not" to stop.

Lizabeth Scott, newcomer to the screen and the field of the stars, plays a magnificent role in "You Came Along," the story of three men and a girl whose stories are told beautifully in the film. Sharing the billing is "Shady Lady" with Ginny Simms, Robert Paige and Charles Coburn, at the State theatre.

Betty Grable and Dick Haymes

"Mr. In Between" Billy Gilbert himself twisted up at the hands of his comical pals, Shemp Howard and Maxie Rosenbloom, in a mad scene from Monogram's comedy hit, "Trouble Chasers," coming to the Lyric theatre on Wednesday.

"HOOKED"—Robert Cummings is completely satisfied with the attentions of Lizabeth Scott in this scene from their latest hit "You Came Along," opening Sunday at the State theatre.

will share the stellar honors in "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe," opening at the Lyric theatre Monday. Shown in technicolor, the picture is a riot as far as comedy is concerned and is studied with songs you can never forget. The co-feature is "Gentlemen From Arizona."

All you western fans prepare to swoon, because ever since the opening of "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride," starring Gene Autry, which had its official opening quite some time ago, fans of his have preferred this song, "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride," to all his others. Roy Rogers may be seen currently in "Hards Across the Border," also at the Allen Theatre.

TIN CAN RESTRICTION EASED FOR FOOD BY CPA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—Restrictions on the use of tin cans for packing food products have been relaxed by the Civilian Production Administration.

Blind Date Develops Hilarity Over "Snooks" Show, Sunday

Daddy Higgins' "blind date" develops into a game of hide-and seek when Mommy unexpectedly shows up at the railroad station during the "Baby Snooks Show" comedy broadcast heard at 6:30 p. m. Sunday over CBS.

Baby Snooks and Daddy run into a tight situation when Daddy opens an illegible addressed letter that arrives at the Higgins household, and thinking it is for him, reads the contents and rushed off with Snooks to meet the female sender at the station. But the letter is from a friend of Mommy's and husband and daughter have some quick explaining to do when Mrs. Higgins shows up at the train to keep an appointment.

Little Miss Margaret O'Brien pays her first visit to Charlie McCarthy when she appears as his program guest at 8 p. m. Sunday over NBC. The chances are that Margaret may wear her new Brownie Scout uniform to show off to Charlie. She has just recently been made an honorary member and now wears her new uniform on any and all occasions. Charlie, too, may come in a Scout uniform. He has been an honorary member of long standing and boasts he is the only Boy Scout with a monocle.
