Abbott And Costello Coming To State Theatre Thursday

Those guys are coming back again—that's right—none other than Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in "Naughty Nineties."

Opening at the State theatre Thursday, the picture promises to be as hilarious as, if not more so, than any of their previous pictures. Accompanying the boys will be the film, "Northwest Mounted Police" in technicolor with Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Proston Foster and Robert Preston in the title roles.

The latter film is the story of a Texas ranger who goes into Canada, or rather the northwest, in search of a man who committed a crime in his territory, only to discover the "Mounties" are looking for him, too.

At the Ohio theatre is the film "Love Letters" which has been receiving wide acclaim all over the United States. The film will bow out of the Ohio theatre Wednesday night when "Confidential Agent" with Charles Boyer and Lauren Bacall, will come in for a special showing at 10 p. m. Wednesday. Thanksgiving Day will be the day for the film's formal opening.

In a magnificent piece of showmanship, Zachary Scott comes to Lima once more in "The Southerner," currently playing at the Sigma theatre. Scott, just new to screen fans, has played some pretty important roles in the past and now is becoming recognized by theatre reviewers and critics. If you feel that your life is under the sea, then you'll not want to miss the picture "Crash Dive" which has Tyrone Power as its star. The film tells of the dive a submarine often has to make in order to save the crew and the things which have to be endured after the dive has been made. Sharing the billing is "The Gang's All Here" with Alice Faye and Jimmy Ellison. Dick Haymes and Betty Grable have the stairing roles in "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe" now at the Lyric theatre The film tells of a boy who decided he role as Mazie Revere, comes to Ann Sothern, in her well-known this film.
