

"Pinocchio," Fairy Tale Film, Is Back On Screen At Sigma

One of the most beautiful stories ever included in a group of children's stories is the one of "Pinocchio"—the one about the little wooden puppet which came to life, to the pride and joy of its owner.

Opening Saturday at the Sigma theatre, the tale tells of the good toy-maker, who made a little puppet. He wished on the wishing star for the puppet to come to life and as in the usual way of things happening, it did.

At the Ohio theatre is the current star, "Confidential Agent," with Lauren Bacall and Charles Boyer.

These screwballs are still at the State theatre but maybe it may be possible to keep our sides from splitting if we wear strait jackets and only look at the film once in a while.

These two comedians, better known as Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are out for laughs—nothing more, nothing less—only to make you do the proverbial thing of "dying with laughter."

"Man Who Wouldn't Die" will open for a one day showing Saturday at the Lyric theatre.

Duncan Renaldo will have the lead in "Cisco Kid Returns" opening at the Allen theatre Sunday.

The body of a 77-year-old Robert Brice, of Columbus, today had been recovered from Godale Park lake in Columbus.

Ernie Adamson, committee counsel, who recently requested scripts of several well-known radio commentators for review purposes, said his staff was now preparing a report on its findings.

Adamson refused to say what commentators would be named in the report or what the charges against them would be.

He said the committee was undecided whether to pursue the inquiry itself or recommend that any further investigation be conducted by the house interstate and foreign commerce committee.
