PART IN NEWFOUNDLAND'S

A reward of 10 pounds was paid to a sea captain who found a big island. At the present exchange rate, that sum would be equal to about $40. The captain was John Cabot. Sailing under the flag of Great Britain, he discovered Newfoundland in 1497, only five years after Columbus first crossed the At-lantic. We know of Cabot's re-

the New Isle."

Newfoundland is a little larger than Ireland. It has been called "part of the North American continent, broken off." Since it is close to Quebec and Nova Scotia, we might expect it to be a province of Canada, but it has a sep-arate government. Through the years, it has kept spart from Can-

Amlie to Discuss Full Employment

Action for full employment will be discussed by Thomas R. Amlie, former Progressive congressman at 7:30 tonight before members of the Workers' Educa-tion bureau. His address consti-tutes the final forum of a series on full employment currently sponsored by the bureau. The meeting will be held at 20½ E. Mifflin st.
