

Variety of Hilarity Offered in Sabbath Films

'Bells' Film Offers Award Winning Stars

Another Sunday and there's plenty to do for diversion—mainly, see a movie. There are a number of good ones on tap for theatre-goers this Sabbath, in fact so many that all one would need to do is close his eyes and walk into the nearest theatre.

One of the most touchingly beautiful stories to be put into film form is told at the Ohio theatre in "Bells of St. Mary's," which stars Ingrid Bergman and Bing Crosby. Miss Bergman does a bit of singing in the film, and Bing warbles the tunes which have become popular all over the nation ever since the release of the film. Both Bing and Ingrid turn out superb performances nearly topping those for which they received Academy awards last year.

Daisy is the center of attraction of the latest Bumstead series in "Life With Blondie" now showing at the Quilna theatre. When Daisy is named "Pin-Up Pooch" for the Navy, things begin to happen and don't stop until she is "dog-napped" by gangsters.

It's one of the funniest films in this series and one that few will want to miss. The billing is shared with "Allotment Wives," a film-expose of how money turned the minds and morals of girls in this war which was to end all greed.

If you're engaged, thinking of being married, just married or have been sitting it out together for 25 years—whatever the case may be, you'll want to see "Sailor Takes a Wife" the film currently showing at the Sigma theatre.

The many things which are trivial but which married folks will eventually make into mountains are shown and described perfectly in this hilariously happy, yet poignant film.

When a GI gets pulled from the front ranks, just what things are beginning to look like they may get interesting, then you count on a funny story. "What Next, Cpl. Hargrove," the film now showing at the State theatre, is just that and is one few will want to miss. Sharing the bill will be "Captain Kidd" with Charles Laughton and Randolph Scott.

Kirby Grant, as an attorney, manages to keep things pretty well under control in the film "Penthouse Rhythm," now playing at the Lyric theatre. Learning, much to his chagrin, that someone has played him for the proverbial "sucker" things almost end in a catastrophe, but fate steps in and sees things thru.

Donald Barry is cast in the film, "Calling All Marines," now showing at the Allen theatre. Sharing the bill at the theatre is "Neath Arizona Skies" with John Wayne.

Kuhn's Release Recommended

HEIDELBERG, Feb. 16—(UP)—Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the German-American Bund, will be released from internment if a recommendation already on file is approved, it was learned today.

Dr. Herman Rosensky of Brooklyn, who is in charge of the U. S. Seventh Army's internment camp, confided that he had recommended that Kuhn be freed.

"He is now only a beaten, broken man, and represents no subversive danger," Rosensky said in explaining his action.

Kuhn himself was found in a cell-like room in a converted castle which is the center of the internment camp. He said he thought Germany as a nation was defeated for at least 100 years.

"I have seen very little of Germany since the war," he said, "but what I saw was enough."

There's only one thing left for my generation now—and that is just to exist.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(UP)—Edward Bowers, 37, of Brooklyn, was under arrest today because he gambled too well with the $20,000 he admittedly stole from his employers six months ago.

His underworld fame as a bookie-beating horse bettor pointed him out to a detective who arrested him in Newark and recovered $16,650 of his embezzled wealth.

Bowers, former accountant for the Norton Little Steamship Co., admitted to police today that he had raised checks during the week of Aug. 24, 1945, and absconded with $20,000 after having some betting success at New York race tracks.
