'Mexicana' Makes Debut At Quilna Theatre Friday

"Mexicana," as the title indicates, is a picture of our neighbor on the south and the delightfully gay people there, but it blends with a liberal display of our own happy idiosyncrasies. The mirthful combination which opens at the Quilna theatre Friday, probably is one of the brightest musicals of the year.

The story is a merry narrative in which Constance Moore portrays a Broadway star who goes to conquer Mexico City, where Tito Guizar is a singing idol. Their respective managers conceive a notion that it would be profitable if the report leaked out that there had been a secret marriage three vears earlier.

The leak becomes a deluge and the romantic Mexicans are elated. But not so, the stars! Before the complications are solved by the fact that they actually fall in love, they almost despise one another. But there is a wealth of comedy in the interval, and a lot of brilliant singing and dancing.

One of the season's more amusing pictures in a long time opens at the Ohio theatre Friday entitled "Guest Wife" and starring Claud-Colbert. Don Ameche and Dick Foran. The film tells of a bank executive whose old school chum talks the executive into lending his wife in order to live up to a story that the chum has been telling his editor Everything adds up to hilarity in general when the wife turns the tables on both of them in order to have a little peace of mind.

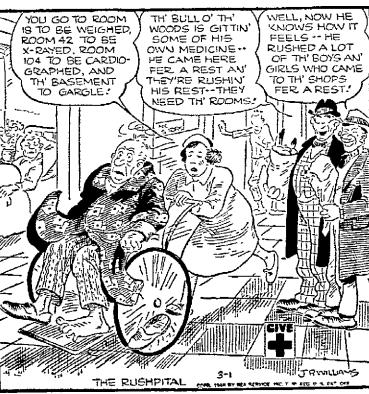

Dorothy Lamour and Arturo de Cordova will come to the Sigma theatre Saturday in one of the gayest stories about Mexico this city has seen in a long time. It's "Masquerate in Mexico" and affords plenty of thrills and laughs for fans.

Currently billed at the theatre and different and is one that will nade." hold the interest of everyone to the end
