

'Road to Utopia' To Open At Ohio Theatre Friday

What may well be termed the funniest of the Crosby-Lamour-Hope performances comes to the Ohio theatre Friday in the form of "Road to Utopia."

The trio that travelled riotously to Singapore, Zanzibar and Morocco, are hitting the road again. The story is a giddy affair with the accent on laughs. It's a take-off on the Alaskan gold-rush days with Bob and Bing out to outdo two tough desperados bent on swiping Doty's gold mine.

Dana Andrews, Richard Conte and many others are brought together in the film "A Walk in the Sun" opening Friday at the Quilna theatre. It tells of a platoon of men from a Texas division who land at Salerno, but it does not have the heroic exploits of these men incorporated in it. It tells of the real down-to-earth story of the men.

Tarzan finds plenty of the kind of adventure which would thrill any movie fan to the tips of his or her toes in the film "Tarzan and the Leopard Woman" now showing at the Sigma theatre. With Brenda Joyce in the role of Jane, the film tells of how a tribe was defeated in their attempts to conquer an empire and tell the white man what he should do.

Joan Bennett, Edward G. Robinson and Dan Duryea have the starring roles in the picture "Scarlet Street" now playing at the State theatre. Plenty of action is guaranteed in the gaily psychological film of a man in love with a beautiful girl sharing the billing is "Vacation from Marriage."

A road which leads to nowhere—that's the "Road to Alcatraz" now playing at the Lyric theatre. Prison walls which engulf, first the body, then the mind, are shown in the future for a man in this film. The co-feature is "Gentleman with Guns."

Spencer Tracy has the starring role in the film "Sky Devils" now showing at the Allen theatre. With Fred Scott in the title role "Riding the Wind" the theatre offers some swell entertainment for the whole family.

Maureen O'Hara proves to be both the "hoot" and the "beauty" in the picture "Spanish Main" now playing at the Majestic theatre. Paul Henreid plays the leading male role with Walter Slezak in a magnificent supporting role.

Murder for Scrap of Paper Basis of Dick Powell Show

An elusive scrap of paper bearing a few vitally important words almost proves the epitaph of one Richard Rogue, private investigator, as Dick Powell airs the latest adventure of his hard-headed detective character on "Rogue's Gallery," at 8:30 p. m. Thursday over MBS.

In this punch-packed drama, "The Message," Rogue is blasted into consciousness of sinister intrigue by a barrage of revolver shots, aimed by a man in a speeding car at a girl running up an alley. The girl's name is Jeanie, and always a sucker for light brown hair, Rogue helps her search for a certain small piece of paper.

Those two April Fools, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, wind up in the dough, when they take jobs in a bakery, in their comedy broadcast over NBC at 10 p. m. Thursday. Their comments on current topics are designed to keep the audience rolling in the aisles.

The Brush and "The Thrush" meet for the 11th time this season when Groucho Marx visits Dinah Shore during the "Dinah Shore's Open House" broadcast at 8:30 Thursday over NBC.

Tired of being just a straight comedian, Groucho persuades Dinah to join him in a song. Then the southern songstress persuades Groucho to stick by his gags.

Frank Morgan will bend Bing Crosby's ear with another tall tale when he is guest with the Groaner on Music Hall at 9 p. m. Thursday over NBC.

In between frequent guest appearances on MH, Morgan found time to fly with Howard Hughes on the first Constellation flight from Hollywood to New York. The plane carried a number of screen stars but few brought back the same story of the trip that fabulous Frank did.

New Mexico has more acres of farm land than Illinois or Iowa.
