

'Walk in the Sun' To Open At Quilna Theatre Friday

The war years sent a veritable avalanche of books rolling from the nation's presses. But when a slender volume by an unknown novelist appeared recently, the entire literary world paused to pay tribute to it as one of the most penetrating and sensitive stories of American men in battle ever written.

The book, now in film form, is "A Walk in the Sun" and opens Friday at the Quilna theatre. Starring Dana Andrews, with an outstanding cast of supporting players, the film tells the story of the adventures of a single platoon—the Lee Platoon, to be exact—of the 36th (Texas) division. It tells of the landing on Salerno and of the loss of the commanding officers and how the group sets out to accomplish an almost impossible mission.

Those ever-loving gagsters—Bing Crosby and Bob Hope—prove that the "Road to Utopia," now playing at the Ohio theatre, is paved with more mileage of guffaws than any other "road" they have previously traveled in fabulous cinematicland. It's a not a quick-on-the-quips picture with the famous ad-libbers "leggin' it" northward to the gold-studded Yukon, accompanied by that pretty baggage of feminine tricks—Dorothy Lamour—all wrapped up in her best fur-lined parka.

At the Sigma theatre is the film which has been wowing audiences since its opening at the Ohio theatre last Friday. "Saratoga Trunk" held over from the Ohio so that all those folks who did not have a chance to see the film before it closed, might do so now. Starring Ingrid Bergman and Gary Cooper the film is both amusing and is an eye-opener.

A strange love that led to murder is the basis of the film "Scarlet Street" currently playing at the State theatre. Starring Joan Bennett, Edward G. Robinson and Dan Duryea, the picture has one of the most fascinating yet terrifying foundations ever to be incorporated into a picture. Sharing the billing is "Vacation from Marriage" with Robert Donat.

Fun galore is to be found in the film-musical "Rocking in the Rockies" opening Saturday night at the Lyric theatre. Now showing at the theatre is "Road to Alcatraz" with Robert Lowery and June Storey. Also "Gentleman with Guns."

Paul Muni and George Raft are currently to be seen in the picture "Scarface" a mystery film which will make your spine tingle. Sharing the bill is "The Traitor" with Tim McCoy. Both pictures are currently to be seen at the Allen theatre.

"George White's Scandals" with Joan Davis and Jack Haley will make its debut at the Majestic theatre Sunday. The films bowing out will be "Spanish Main" and "Main Street after Dark," both of which have enjoyed successful runs in the theatre during the past week.

Critical Period Ahead for Fruit

TOLEDO, Apr. 5—(UP)—The critical period for fruit in the Lake Erie region will come within the next 10 days. U. S. Weatherman Frank E. McLeary said today.

He reported that some frost damage to fruit crops already had been reported, but its extent was not yet estimated.

McLeary said freezing weather was not in prospect for this area but reminded that last year's apple, pear and plum crops were greatly reduced by frost conditions much the same as those at present.

Clean-Up Week Declared On Aldrich Show Friday

Henry Aldrich's determination to collect and return articles loaned and borrowed takes on proportions of a town Clean-Up Week, during "The Aldrich Family" comedy broadcast at 8 p. m. Friday over CBS.

After combing the attic and discovering an accumulation of borrowed books, baseball bats, etc., Henry enlists pal Homer's assistance in going from door to door in Centerville to return the "loot"—and to gather up a deluge of long-forgotten, loaned articles. The idea gathers such momentum that the town's mayor declares a local "Clean-Up Week."

Ed "Archie" Gardner, who grew in Brooklyn, and James Dunn, who was given a statue for helping a three grow in Brooklyn, co-star as a vaudeville team during the "Duffy Tavern" broadcast over NBC at 8:30 p. m. Friday.

Dunn, who was given an academy "Oscar" for his brilliant work in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," suggests that Archie be billed as the "Poor Man's Milton Berle."

Seek Ceilings On Radio Sales

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5—(UP)—The Federal Communications Commission revealed today that it is seeking authority from congress to put ceilings on the prices for which broadcasting licensees can sell their radio stations.

"From an examination of applications for the sale of radio stations," the FCC said in its report on the 1945 fiscal year, "it is apparent that broadcasting licensees are selling their stations for amounts far in excess of the value of the physical assets to be transferred."

The commission said it had asked congress for "direction as to the policy" it should follow in considering requests from broadcasters seeking authority to sell their stations.

"Under present law," the FCC pointed out, "it is not clear whether the commission has either the duty or power to disapprove of a transfer merely because the price is inordinately high."

WARDAMAN CONFIRMED
WASHINGTON, Apr. 5—(UP)—Cmndr. James K. Vardaman, Jr., President Truman's naval aide, prepared today to take over his new duties as a member of the Federal Reserve board. The senate confirmed his appointment by a 66-to-9 vote late yesterday.

Industrialists Heard on Gas

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Apr. 5—(UP)—The Federal Power Commission's natural gas hearings entered the third day here today with eight West Virginia and Ohio industrial firms expected to testify in addition to several other officials.

The Federal Power Commission, which is looking into all phases of the natural gas business, including its use, conservation, administration and resources, has heard eight West Virginia industrial leaders explain why their firms preferred natural gas over other fuels, and to what extent natural gas was used for fuel.

Without exception, the industrialists indicated that changes from gas to other fuels would necessitate widespread revision in plant construction and organization.
