'Pardon My Past' To Open At Lyric Theatre Monday

Fred MacMurray believes in mirrors that reflect the past when he appears in the film "Pardon My Past" opening at the Lyric theatre Monday.

MacMurray, it seems, is cast in a dual role as twins. He plays the married and the unmarried man and finds it just as gruelling as a hard day at the foundry. With Marguerite Chapman and Rita Johnson in roles opposite him, things become complicated and William Demarest adds to the hilarity by taking life easy while Fred is sweating out the whole affair. "Because of Him," comedy-romance film starring Deanna Durbin, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone, now playing at the Ohio theatre, will be replaced Tuesday by the romance-thriller, "Deadline at Dawn," with Susan Hayward, Paul Lucas and Bill Williams.

Bowing out Monday, "Live Wires" will leave a vacant space in the Quilna's marquee into which the film "Col. Effingham's Raid" will slide. The latter, starring Charles Coburn, is a merry mix-up which will keep you laughing. James Stewart and Rosalind Russell are at it again in a return engagement of the film "No Time for Comedy," currently playing at the Sigma theatre. Sharing the billing is another film brought back by demand, "City for Conquest" with James Cagney and Ann Sheridan. Both pictures bring surprisingly fine acting back to audiences, who, in the rush of things of current interest, had for-

Frank Buck, who brings them back alive, can be seen in person in the picture "Tiger Fangs" now showing at the Allen theatre. One of the cruelest animals of the jungle, the film tells of the tiger, a beast which is hard to kill. Shuring the billing is "Gangster Frontier" with Tex Ritter.

Robert Montgomery gets his "wolfish" ears pinned back in the film "Those Endearing Young Charms" now showing at the Majestic theatre. Sharing the bill is "Maisie Goes to Reno" with Ann
