

'Enchanted Forest' Opens At Lyric For Three Days

"Enchanted Forest" the beloved story which tells of a beautiful growth of trees and a hermit whose home is nearly destroyed by the work of money-crazed human beings, opens at the Lyric theatre Tuesday.

The billing at the theatre is shared by the film "Love Honor and Goodbye," the film which attracted a good bit of attention when it made its first showing in the key cities of the United States.

"Devotion," the film which tells of a love so great that not even the closest would recognize its depth, continues its stay at the Ohio theatre. The picture has Ida Lupino, Olivia De Havilland and Paul Henreid as its stars.

"Tars and Spars" bows out at the Quilna theatre Monday night to allow a return performance of "Laura," with Gene Tierney and Dana Andrews as well as "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" with Betty Grable.

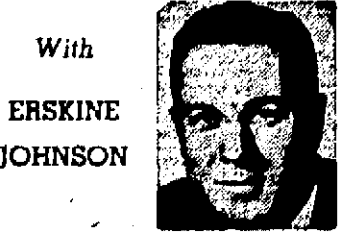

George Raft is currently thrilling audiences at the Sigma theatre with his performance in "White Stop" which also has Ava Gardner in a starring role. Sharing the billing is "Smooth As Silk."

Gregory Peck plays the part of the amnesia victim and Ingrid Bergman that of the psychiatrist in the film "Spellbound" at the State theatre. Sharing the bill is "Riverboat Rhythm."

"Silver Queen" and "Whirlwind Horse" are the two stories opening at the Allen theatre Wednesday. Currently showing at the theatre is "New Adventures of Tarzan" with Johnny Weissmuller.

Bing Crosby sings his way out of the Majestic theatre where he is currently to be seen in "East Side of Heaven" to allow the picture "Betrayal of the Cast" a suspense film, to come in Tuesday.

In Hollywood

With ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, Apr. 29—(NEA) — Parkyakarkus has dropped 20 of the 40 pounds he's trying to shed for his return to the screen. Chuckle on a Universal studio call sheet: "She Meant No Harm"—Weather Permitting." The former, of course, is the title of a new film. . . . Phil Terry strikes back at those gossips who are saying that he much delayed Joan Crawford's divorce because of outlandish property settlement demands. He waived all right to any community property in Joan's divorce suit.

Promised and hoped for: Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's impersonation of Frank Sinatra in M-G-M's "The Showoff." Veronica Lake's next will be a western, "Ramrod," opposite Joel McCrea. . . . The new Cary Grant-Shirley Temple film, "Bachelor and Bobby Sox," sounds like fun.

A FEW weeks ago, while in New York, William Perlberg, who is producing "Forever Amber," sat next to Arthur Rubinstein at a dinner party. The conversation turned to books, and Rubinstein told of his difficulties in buying a copy of Kathleen Winsor's novel. He finally got one, he said, read it, and felt left down.

"The producer who bought it," he expounded, "is a most stupid man. How can he make a picture of it?" When he stopped for breath, Perlberg introduced himself, saying: "You've been talking about me. I'm the guy who bought 'Forever Amber,' and I'll tell you why. It's because people like you read the book."

Rubinstein reflected for a brief moment, "I guess you're right," he blushed, "Yes, I guess you are a very shrewd and intelligent producer."

Our Katie is going glamorous. La Hepburn wears five filmy negligees for her love-making with Bob Taylor in "Undercurrent."

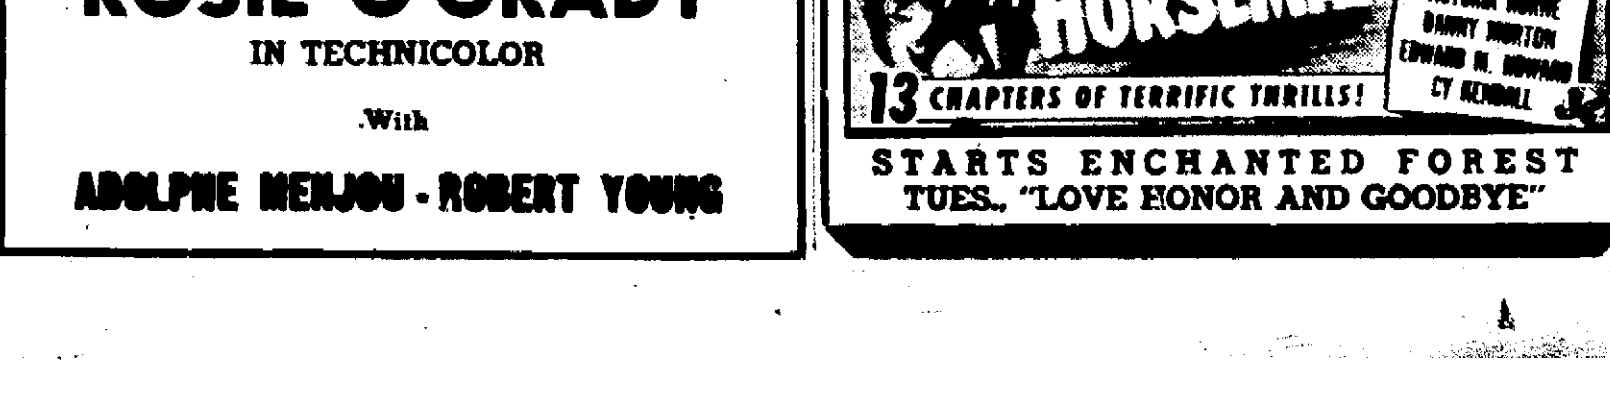

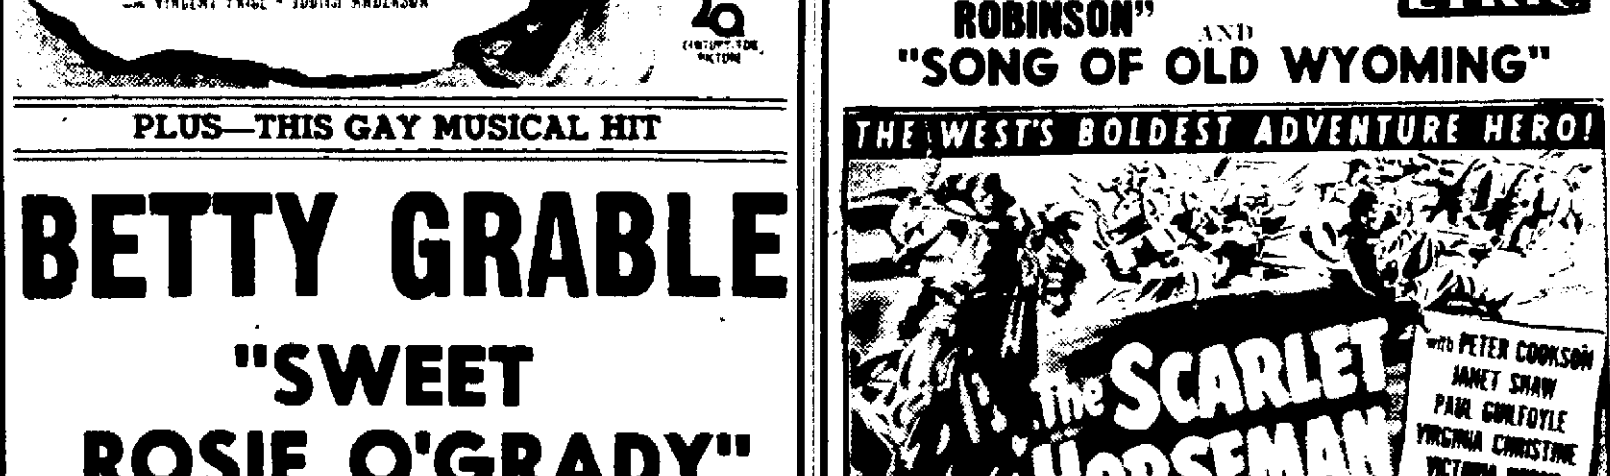

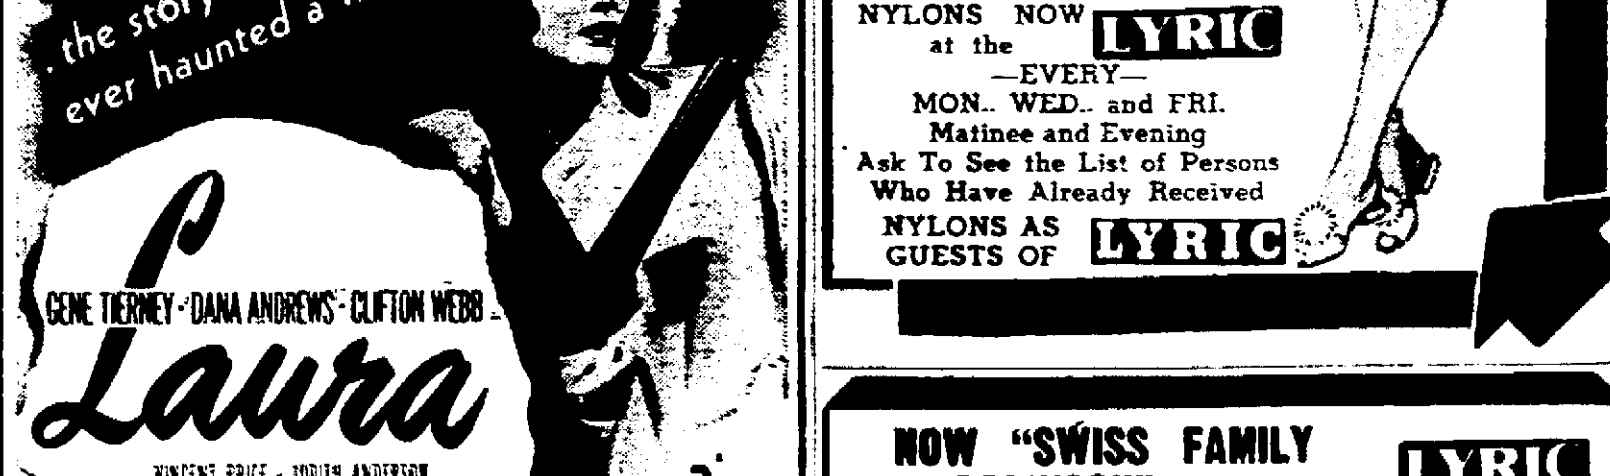

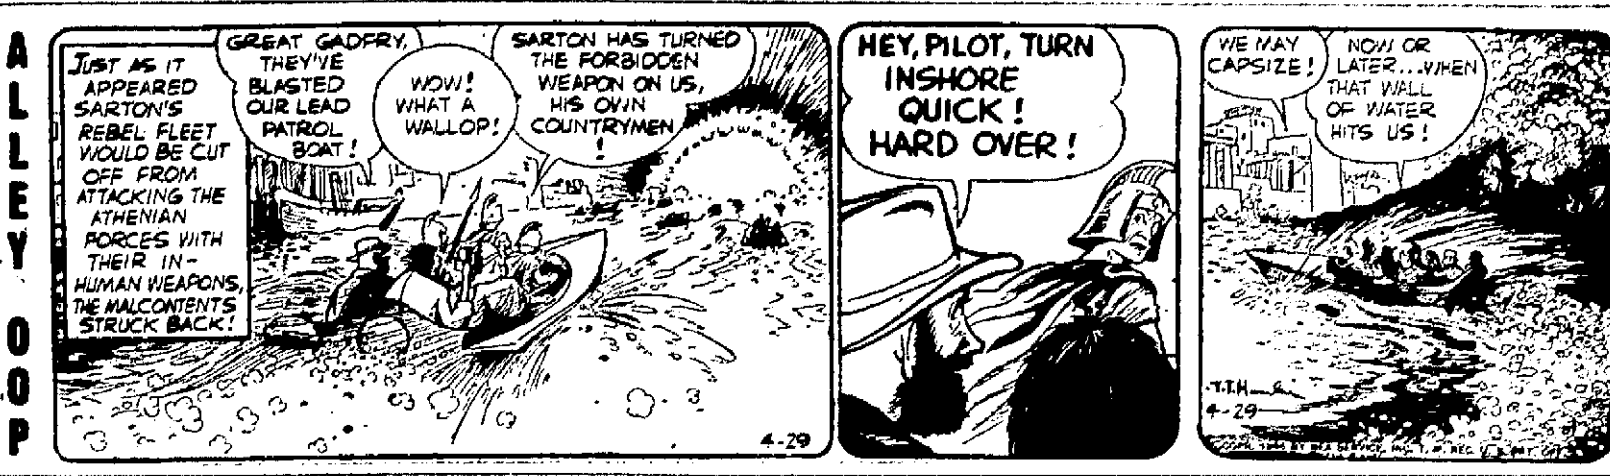

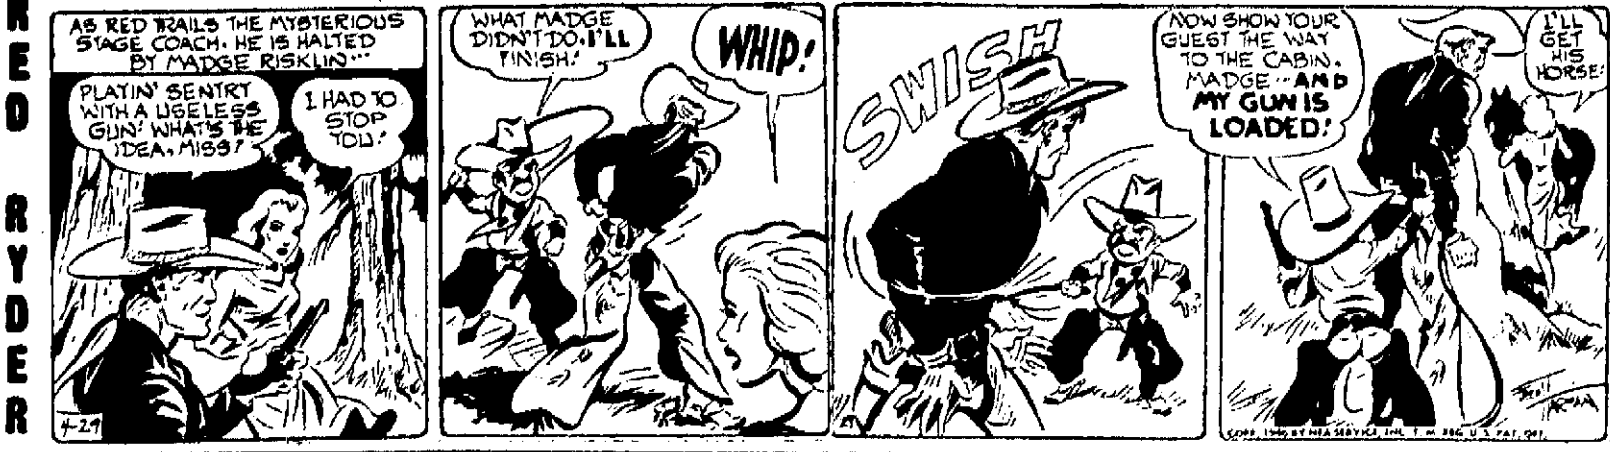

Carmen Cavallaro's recording of "Warsaw Concerto" has passed the million mark in sales. No type casting here: Newcomer Richard Norris, a former Kansas radio announcer, plays the role of Abie in "Abie's Irish Rose." He's an Irishman. . . . Rudy Vallee just sank a fortune into Palm Springs real estate.

The prop man on the set of "The Razor's Edge" labeled his smoke pots, stored in a large box, "Contents—100 Lays." Romantic Smoke Generators." Lamar Trotti's script has Ty Power and Gene Tierney walking down a street in Paris hand in hand, "with the chimneys smoking lazily, romantically in the dusk."

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are spending $300,000 on the Lou Costello Youth Foundation in Los Angeles.

The other day they went down to see how things were progressing on the construction. They were immediately mobbed by a crowd of kids, unimpressed by the host of workmen and steam shovels. All they did was follow Bud and Lou around, begging for bubble gum. The boys dished it out to the kids at the cornerstone-laying ceremony.

As a famous woman whirls to the strains of a new Viennese waltz, a shot rings out and it develops that she has been dancing "The Waltz of Death," which is the beginning of it all.

When other deaths occur with succeeding performances of the waltz, further playing of the song is forbidden until Holmes finds the clues to the mysterious murders.
