

Sigma Film To Be Held Over For Command Performances

Another holdover at the Sigma theatre is due Wednesday when the much-demanded "From This Day Forward" carries on until Saturday. Telling of a young couple whose home seems constantly invaded by the always helpful yet prying in-laws, the picture is almost typical of some marriages of today. Joan Fontaine and Mark Stevens are cast in the starring roles of this tender film. Sharing the billing is "Blind Alibi" with Martha O'Driscoll.

Claudette Colbert turns out another fine performance in the Ohio's current film "Tomorrow Is Forever" in which she is starred with Orson Welles and George Brent. Long noted for exceptional movie acting, Miss Colbert makes this film a memorial one for all.

Tyrone Power can be seen in the film "Jesse James" now showing at the Quilna theatre. With the saga of this notorious robber comes another story of revenge by his brother, Frank. The story of both brothers is told in "Jesse James" and the co-feature, "The Return of Frank James," with Henry Fonda.

With only two more days to go during its engagement at the State theatre, folks will not want to miss "Spiral Staircase" a truly fine mystery film. Sharing the bill is "One Heavenly Night."

Bert Gordon in one of his craziest films to date is now to be seen at the Lyric theatre where he is cast in the film, "Hod Do You Do." The co-feature is "Red River Valley."

"Bowery Champs" and "Flame of the West" are the two adventure-comedy films now at the Allen theatre. Leo Gorcey is cast in the leading role in the former film.

Judy Garland and little Margaret O'Brien come to the Majestic theatre Tuesday for a two-day stand in "Meet Me in St. Louis." Sharing the bill is "Beside Manor."

SHOE LEADER DIES AKRON, May 7—(INS)—Services will be held Wednesday for Marion B. Shumaker, 92, who operated one of Akron's leading shoe stores until his retirement in 1930. The aged man suffered a heart attack a week before his death.

Looking At HOLLYWOOD with ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, May 7—(NEA)—Col. Paul Tibbets, who piloted the B-29 which dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima, visited M-G-M the other day to discuss filming of "The Beginning or the End." Later, posing for a still photograph, Col. Tibbets winced and said, "Those flashbulbs scare me to death."

Charles Chaplin, Jr., just out of the Army, is taking a drama course at UCLA. . . . The March twins, former kid stars, are carrying on a romance with Arthur Murray's two daughters, Phyllis and Jane. . . . Loreta Young is studying fancy ice-skating for her latest, "Katie for Congress." She's never donned a pair in her life.

Phil Harris' campaign slogan in his race for election as mayor of Encino. "One-zy, Two-zy, why be choosy?" . . . Barbara Stanwyck's son, Tony, is going to boarding school in Santa Barbara. . . . Promised and hoped for: Gary Cooper, of all people, wearing a monocle for scenes in "Cloak and Dagger."

A Plug for "Ham" After all these years, we finally get a director, Robert Siodmak, to admit that "Ham" is a pretty good thing in front of a movie camera. Especially for cinematic connoisseurs, which are Siodmak's specialty, as witness "The Suspect," "Uncle Harry," "The Spiral Staircase," and now "The Dark Mirror."

"As prime and lovely ham as I've seen," Siodmak told us, "was Ethel Barrymore in 'The Spiral Staircase.' Directing a film with

Charles Laughton is like sitting down to an eight-course banquet, each course a new and delectable experience in ham. Humphrey Bogart still carries around his first Broadway press notice, written by Alexander Woollcott. "The young man who embodied the afamous idiom," wrote Alex, "was what might mercifully be described as inadequate."

Right after the government ordered a 25 per cent cut in the national bread ration, Walter Wanger went Uncle Sam 75 per cent better. He cut Susan Hayward off without a crumb for a big dinner party scene in "Smash-Up."

Ray Takes It From Lana Ray Milland and his wife have cancelled their trip to Rio. Lana Turner's description of the mobs of fans convinced them they ought to stay in Hollywood. But Ray, you don't wear sweaters. . . . That Mardi Gras of stars at the L. A. Coliseum May 9, sponsored by the American Veterans' Committee with proceeds going to veterans' housing, sounds like fun. Among other things, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby will put on a golf putting match in the infield. . . . Robert Carson has written a book with a Hollywood locale titled, "The Bachelor Bride." Wonder if one of our recent weddings gave him the idea.

Hit - and - Run Driver Played By Santos Ortega Tuesday

Appearing as guest ghoul behind the creaking door, Radio Ace Santos Ortega plays a hit-and-run driver who could do no harm, in "You Could Die Laughing," a suspense-laden "Inner Sanctum" mystery to be broadcast at 8 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

The doctor has given this befuddled driver only a year to live, and the murderer and a package of counterfeit bills provide an unexpected passport to freedom.

A young boy who rushes into the offices of Nick Carter, Master Detective, to complain that each morning the flowers in his garden are dead, puts "the famous sleuth on the trail of a clever killer whose motives aren't flower-scented during "The Case of the Pointing Flowers" at 7 p. m. Tuesday over MBS.

Many a bachelor would be pleased to have a pretty blonde walk in and announce herself as the Mrs. but Mike (The Falcon) Waring ungalantly declines the honor and rushes into a case of blackmail and murder in "The Adventures of the Falcon" episode entitled "Murder Takes a Wife" to be heard at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday over MBS.

Ida Lupino, one of the screen's leading dramatic actresses, portrays the leading role, when "This Is My Best" presents "The Pond" to be heard at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday over CBS.

The story, which appeared in Good Housekeeping magazine, has been adapted for radio by Carlton E. Morse. Firemen were summoned to the Chicago Market Co., 60 Public Sq. at 6:35 p. m. Sunday where a small fire, believed to have been caused by a lighted cigarette stub, was extinguished by a crack in the arcaway near the sidewalk. The blaze was confined to some old wooden cement forms in the aperture. A camel walks at the rate of about two and a half miles an hour. In the Plymouth Colony, the governor required each incoming boat to bring one cow for every five colonists to relieve a severe milk shortage.
