

'Because of Him' To Open At State Theatre Thursday

Deanna Durbin, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone come to the State theatre Thursday in "Because of Him" one of Deanna's latest films to reach Lima.

The film tells the story of a young girl with the intense desire to become an actress. Her means in achieving a role are both exciting and romantic and prove to be real film entertainment.

Joan Fontaine comes thru with another of her most welcome performances in "From This Day Forward" now showing at the Sigma theatre.

Tyrone Power relives the role of Jesse James and how he met death in the film "Jesse James" now showing at the Quilna theatre.

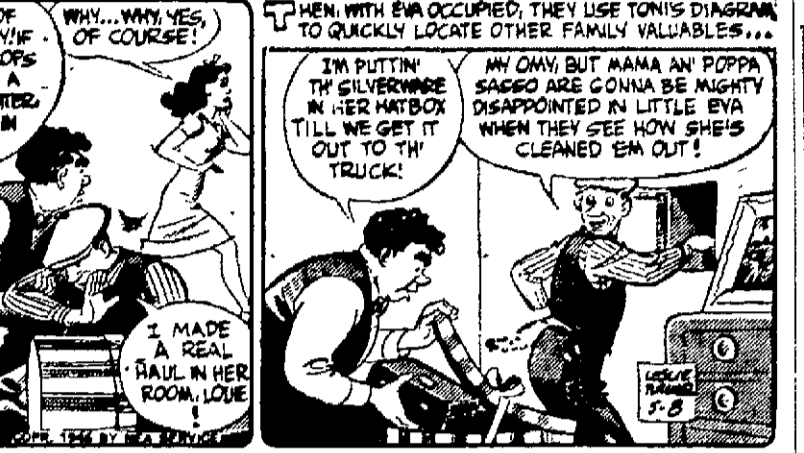

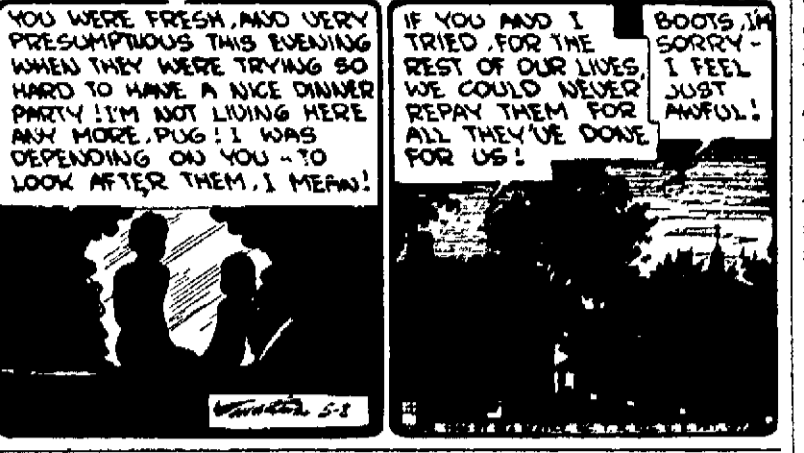

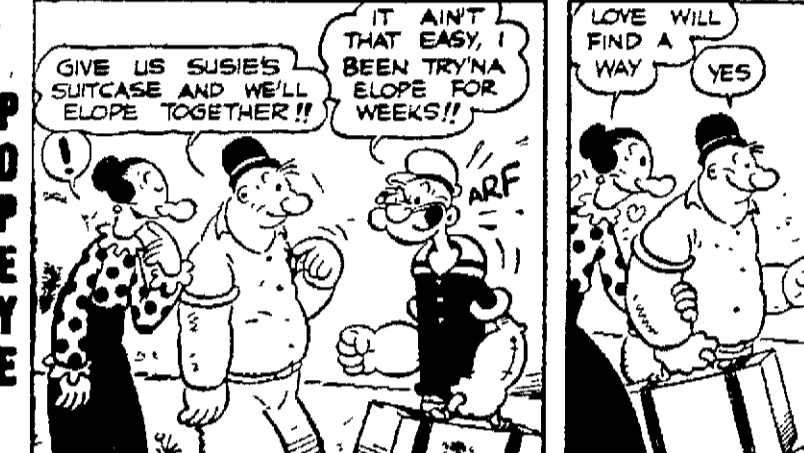

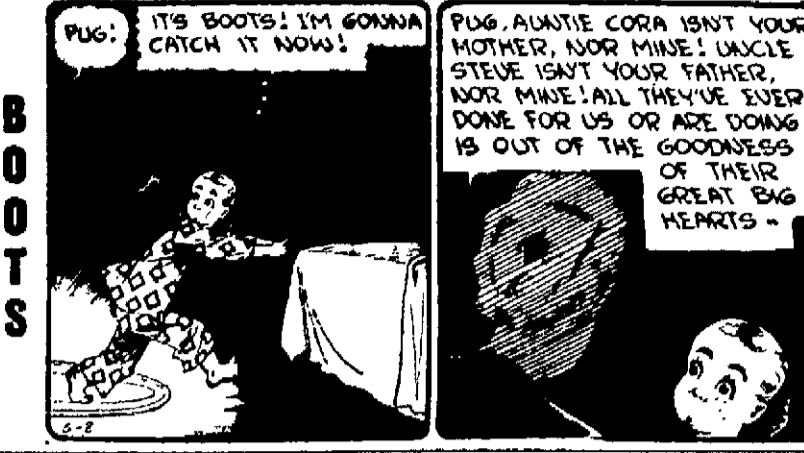

Gene Autry, a favorite of western picture fans, is currently to be seen at the Lyric theatre in "Red River Valley" with his old saddle-partner, Smiley Burnette.

The ancients considered even numbers as female, odd numbers as male.

Mystery Stories Highlight Wednesday Radio Programs

Blackmail leads directly to murder when a poison-pen artist's victim takes drastic action during "The Case of the Death in the Mail Box" on Mr. District Attorney at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday over NBC.

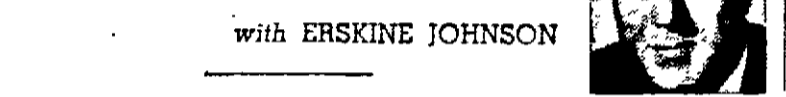

A departure from composer-conductor David Rose's usual exotic compositions is "Our Waltz," his original romantic song in which he leads his orchestra on "Holiday for Music" at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday over CBS.

Barber is Brooklyn's favorite son for his vivid eyewitness accounts of the Dodge ball games. It's a photo finish with murder when "Jerry Plays a Long Shot" this week's fast-moving chapter in "The Adventures of Mr. and Mrs. North" heard at 7 p. m. Wednesday over NBC.

Looking At HOLLYWOOD with ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, May 8—(NEA)—Hollywood's social caste system takes it on the chin today with a petite blonde throwing the punches.

The brave lady who ripped movie town from sound stage to boudoir was Ilona Massey, an intimate observer of the Hollywood scene for almost 10 years.

"Hollywood," Ilona told us, "is like a masquerade party where no one ever takes off his mask."

But that was just her opening shot. Read on, Hollywood, and start blushing.

"If a movie queen wants to buy a mousetrap, she can't just go to the ten-cent store and buy one. It would ruin her social standing.

She has to order a gold-plated mousetrap from a swank Beverly Hills store. And then, when she gets home, she has to put on a hunting costume to set it."

Seating by salary. Ilona has been to a lot of private dinner parties.

"Where you sit at the table," she said, "depends on what your salary is or what the New York critics said about your last picture."

You see a lot of stags at Hollywood parties and night clubs. Ilona had a simple explanation: "A Hollywood bachelor doesn't go with a girl because he likes her. He goes with someone who will raise his social standing. There aren't enough 'important' girls to go around. That's why you see so many stags."

Everyone in Hollywood calls everyone else "darling." It reached a new high, Ilona said, when a big feminine star told her: "Darling, I hate you."

Hollywood can't talk about anything except Hollywood. Ilona told us, shuddering. "You sit on the set and talk about pictures. You go out to dinner and talk about pictures. You talk about pictures after dinner and you talk about pictures on the way home.

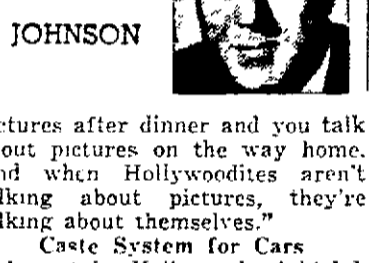

And when Hollywoodites aren't talking about pictures, they're talking about themselves."

Caste System for Cars. A certain Hollywood nightclub even has a social system for automobiles. Ilona said, "If you are a star, they park your car up in the front row. If you are a nobody, they park it on the street a block away."

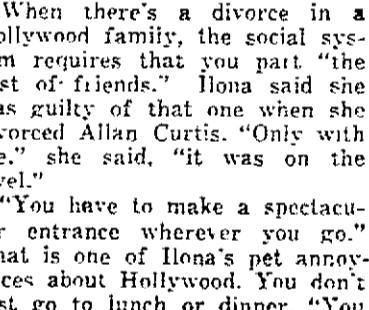

When there's a divorce in a Hollywood family, the social system requires that you part "the best of friends." Ilona said she was guilty of that one when she divorced Allan Curtis. "Only with me," she said, "it was on the level."

"You have to make a spectacular entrance wherever you go." That is one of Ilona's pet annoyances about Hollywood. You don't just go to lunch or dinner. "You have to be paged on the telephone at least three times. Three phone calls is par for a luncheon or dinner engagement. Otherwise, it is not a success."
