

Variety Holds Upper Hand For Saturday's Pictures

Again variety holds the upper hand over the theatre billings for Saturday when everything including hilarious comedy to suspenseful drama makes it way to the screens.

One of the unusual pictures of the year is "Bad Bascomb" with Wallace Beery and little Margaret O'Brien. Popular demand brought these two stars together and the roles they portray in the film are so like them that it's hard to imagine them any other way. The film now is showing at the Sigma.

Suspense rides high at the Ohio where "Her Kind of Man" with Janis Paige, Daney Clark and Zachary Scott in the title roles is playing. Murder seems to be the byword of everyone in this film.

Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford turn in admirable performances in the film "Gilda" now showing at the Quilna. The punishment of literally jailing his wife is what Ford imposes and the resulting drama is terrific.

Opening Saturday midnight at the Lyric will be "Club Havana" with Tom Neal and "Springtime in the Rockies." Both films afford splendid entertainment for the night owls.

Joan Crawford comes to the State Sunday in "Mildred Pierce" the role which earned her the Academy award. Those interested in good movie roles and are fans of Miss Crawford's will not want to miss seeing her in this film.

"Cisco Kid in Old Mexico" and "Jade Masks" are on the docket for Sunday at the Allen. Bowling on Saturday will be "Riding Sunset Trail" and "Rolling Home to Texas."

"Love Letters" with Joseph Cotten and Jennifer Jones opens at the Majestic Sunday. Hailed as one of the best films by the two stars, the picture makes good Sunday entertainment for the whole family.

FREAKLES

I'LL GIVE YOU SIX BITS FOR YOUR HOMING PIGEONS, LARD!

WELL, I HATE TO SELL ROMEO AND JULIET... BUT I NEED THE DOUGH TO FINANCE CANDY FOR HILDA!

HOW COULD YOU BEAR TO SELL THOSE SWEET PIGEONS, LARD?

RELAX, JUNIE! I'VE SOLD THEM THREE TIMES ALREADY TODAY!

CAN I HELP IT IF THEY KNOW THEIR WAY HOME?

LARD, INSTEAD OF TRYING TO WIN HILDA BACK WITH GIFTS, WHY DON'T YOU REDUCE?

AFTER ALL, SHE REFUSES TO SEE YOU ONLY BECAUSE SHE THINKS YOU'RE GETTING TOO FAT!

LISTEN, I WORKED ON MYSELF FOR TWO HOURS YESTERDAY WITH MOM'S REDUCING ROLLER.

-AND ALL I DID WAS TAKE A HALF-INCH OFF THE ROLLER!

HEY, DROOPY, WE WANT OUR DOUGH BACK FOR THOSE HOMING PIGEONS YOU SOLD US!

YEAH!

THE PIGEONS CAME BACK TO YOU!

WELL, STOP BEATING YOUR GUMS! I'LL PAY YOU!

OH, YEAH? WHERE ARE YOU GOING TO GET THREE DUCKS?

I GUESS I'LL HAVE TO SLAUGHTER THE PIG!

I WAS HOPING I COULD FATTEN HIM UP FOR CHRISTMAS!

Looking At HOLLYWOOD

with ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, May 18—(NEA) —Until we met Toumanova, the famous Russian ballerina, we didn't know anything about a Pas de Bourree or a Grand Jete. The ballet just wasn't on our beat.

Toumanova explained everything. With a private demonstration, yet. But we still don't know the difference between a Foutette and an Entrecote.

It was all as simple as filling out a 1946 income tax blank.

All we know is that Toumanova is a very lovely lady who looks beautiful standing on her toes, and that the training of a ballerina is something like the exercises Joe Louis goes thru just before he goes into a ring battle. She "suffers."

Ballet came to our beat when Casey Robinson, the producer, decided to star his wife, ballerina Toumanova, in a motion picture based on the life of Pavlova. Toumanova was Pavlova's protegee. She danced in the Paris opera ballet at 10, was ballerina of the

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo at 16. Miscast in Movie Debut

Toumanova also starred in the RKO picture, "Days of Glory," which brought Gregory Peck to the screen. But she doesn't like to talk about that. It was a dramatic, non-dancing role, and, as she says, "It was not right for the part."

But the Pavlova picture will be different. "It is a labor of love," she says. "A friend once wrote a letter to a friend saying I should play her on the screen."

Altho Pavlova was a lady of many loves, producer Robinson, who also wrote the script, will concentrate the picture on only two of her loves — her husband and one of her boy-friends.

Toumanova was working out in a big sound-stage, with a pianist and George Balanchine, the ballet director. One wall was lined with mirrors, and there was a rope hanging down from the ceiling, with which she practiced spins.

She surprised us. We thought all ballet dancers wore black tights at rehearsals. Toumanova was wearing flesh-colored silk tights, one of those fluffy white skirts, and a filmy blouse.

"The ballerina never, never wears black," she explained. "The ballerina always dresses up."

Miss O'Rourke, a protegee of Lily Pons, New York, is cast with Marion Claire, prima donna for the series, and will be heard in the title role with Richard Tucker, Metropolitan opera tenor, co-starring as Wilhelm Meister. The plot concerns the abduction of a baby girl by gypsies, her latest adoption by Meister as his page, her unrequited love for her benefactor and the eventual discovery of her true station in life.

That noted English zany, Reginald Gardiner, with a portfolio full of his train impersonations and wallpaper notices, pays guest call on the CBS "Dick Haymes Show" at 7 p. m. Saturday.

Lanny Ross, popular singing star, who was recently discharged from the Army, returns to the airwaves as guest star on "The Saturday Night Revue" at 7:30 p. m. Saturday over MBS.
