

'House of Horrors' Presents New Type of Murder-Chiller

The first of the new "Creepers" series, "The House of Horrors," reopens in Lima Thursday at the State theatre.

With Virginia Grey in the feminine lead and Robert Lowery playing opposite, the murder-chiller features Rondo Hatton as the "creep-er-killer."

"Without Reservations" is having a successful run at the Ohio theatre as a hilariously funny romance-comedy.

At the Quilna theatre, "Smoky" is making a hit as Burl Ives, the singing find, gives out with some real cowboy music.

"Out of the Depths," now at the Lyric theatre, is based on true water scenes from World War II.

Now billed at the Allen theatre are "Missing Daughters," with Richard Arlen, and "Sheriff of Sundown" with Allan Lane.

One of the famous "Gildersleeve" series, "Gildersleeve's Ghost," opens Wednesday at the Lima Drive-In theatre.

An older film, but always good, is "None But the Lonely Heart," with Cary Grant, which opened Wednesday at the Gloria Drive-In theatre.

Really, that Gold Rush in '49 can't compare with the Las Vegas gold rush of '46. We've always found Las Vegas a fantastic place, but it's roaring now as it never has before.

The swank, million-dollar hotels—El Rancho, Vegas, Last Frontier, El Cortez, and Nevada Billmore—are jammed. Movie stars, millionaires, socialites and plain John Does are standing two deep at the roulette and dice tables.

Nightly New Year's Eve—Every gambling casino in town—and there's one on almost every corner—is grossing from $3,000 to $5,000 a night. And every night is like New Year's Eve.

Even Maxwell Ketch's local radio station is in the mood—its call letters are KENO. (That's a gambling game, too.)

You call the Lucky Cab Company, and the number is 711. More swank casinos, plush hotels, and fancy dice ranches are going up. Barbara Hutton, they say, is sinking a small fortune into the half-completed Flamingo, which will be a gilt casino with hotel attached.
