

Radio Forum Will Discuss GI Back-to-School Problem

"Am I wise to return to school?"—a problem that has beset many an ex-serviceman—will be discussed in detail by a panel of experts on "What the Veteran Wants to Know," at 1:45 p. m. Sunday over MBS.

Raymond Massey will hail the free state of Maryland, home of Carolyn Long, lyric soprano, sky-rocketing young singer, who will be co-starred as guest artist on "Harvest of Stars" at 7:30 p. m. Sunday over NBC.

The glamorous mezzo-soprano voice of Rise Stevens will be featured on MBS "Let's Go to the Opera" at 6 p. m. Sunday when the Metropolitan Opera and film star joins tenor Eugene Conley and the orchestra, directed by Thomas Scherman, in a cavalcade of favorite opera music sung entirely in English. Miss Stevens will choose scenes from her most celebrated opera roles.

With the hay fever season starting, "Exploring the Unknown" offers the latest authoritative information on "Hay Fever," its causes and what medical science has developed for its relief, in the Sunday broadcast at 8 p. m. over MBS.

Suggested by Goya's famous printing, "Majas on a Balcony," a story will be presented in dramatic form as MBS invites its listeners to another in its series of art appreciation programs entitled "Private Showing" at 1 p. m. over MBS.

After a two-week vacation in Maine, Phil Baker returns to "Take It or Leave It" with a new set of 564 questions, for the broadcast over CBS at 9 p. m. Sunday.

Slim Gaillard, of the Slim Gaillard Trio, will be the guest of Tommy Dorsey when the sentimental gentleman of swing again welcomes fans at 7:30 p. m. Sunday over NBC.

"Will Paris Be a Rubber Stamp Parley?" is the news question highlighting William L. Shirer's regular Sunday broadcast at 4:45 p. m. over CBS. He will discuss the significance of this conference as it concerns the ultimate effect it will have on the final drafting of the peace treaties.

EX-M'GUFFEY MAN AT LARGE

Authorities on Lookout for Lester Nichols, in Area

(Special To The Lima News) KENTON, Aug. 3.—Hard-core authorities and Kenton police were on the watch Saturday for Lester Nichols, 50, former resident of Kenton, who Friday night shot and seriously wounded his estranged wife, Nora, 43, on a downtown corner in Akron, Ind.

Local officers were informed that Nichols, who spent 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary on an armed robbery charge and who killed a Negro prison inmate while in confinement, has two brothers at Alger, one at Foraker and two sisters at Kenton and that he may attempt to contact them. Kenton police records disclose that he was arrested here on an intoxication charge in 1941.

Nearly a dozen Akron townspeople, including the town marshal, saw Mrs. Nichols jump from a car as it halted at the main intersection of the small Indiana town. Witnesses said she ran to the sidewalk followed by the driver of the automobile who scuffed with her and then fired three shots, one of which struck Mrs. Nichols in her right chest. Two inches in her right hand. The weapon was a .22 calibre pistol. Indiana state police said the couple had been separated for about three weeks and Nichols went to the house where his wife was staying and ordered her into the car where he clubbed her on the head with the gun butt.

Nichols fled immediately after the shooting, which occurred a short time later, and officers recovered the car in a swamp near Disko, Ind. they reported.

James Melton offers "Lone Star" as a solo, and Saperton and Shetter, piano duo. Join Melton in Liszt's "Liebestraum" as the "Star Theatre" broadcasts over CBS at 8:30 p. m. Sunday.

Wildcat Strike Ties Up French Communications

PARIS, Aug. 3.—(UP)—A wildcat strike by postal, telephone and telegraph workers spread thru Indiana today and threatened to tie up the nations' entire communications system.

Defying orders by the postal employes union, the strikers—all government employes—shut down service in 40 of the 89 French departments. They organized a national strike committee which demanded a general postal strike.

Paris had no mail deliveries today. Seven telephone exchanges in the capital were closed, and those in most suburbs were out of action.

International telephone and teletype communications were still functioning this morning, thus preventing any immediate serious inconvenience for the peace conference. Sufficient workers were supposed to remain on duty to preserve peace conference facilities, in order "not to injure France's prestige abroad."

New Executive At Ft. Jennings

(Lima News Bureau) FT. JENNINGS, Aug. 3.—Thomas J. Petrus, former coach at Portsmouth Central Catholic high school, will replace Clarence Specht as superintendent of schools here when the fall term commences, according to an announcement by Louis Boehmer, secretary of the Jennings local school board.

Petrus, who is attending Columbia university in a summer class to obtain his master's degree, will take charge here a week later than the regular time set for Putnam-co schools to open. Officials here decided to postpone opening date pending the arrival of Petrus.

Petrus is a native of New York fingerlake district, a returned veteran and will fill the vacancy created thru acceptance of the Mercer-co superintendent's office by Specht.

AUTO BACKLOG STILL PLAGUING MANUFACTURERS

Car Production only Third Of Same 7-Month Era In 1941

DETROIT, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The nation's passenger automobile assembly plants so far this year have turned out slightly under 900,000 vehicles but no appreciable reduction has been made in the big backlog of demand that piled up during the war years.

If you think 900,000 is a lot of automobiles and should include the one you ordered several months ago it would be well to remember that —

The volume is less than one-third the number of cars produced in the first seven months of 1941.

In the decade preceding the war replacement demand alone required slightly more than 2,380,000 cars annually.

For three and one-half years—from Feb. 10, 1942, until July 3, 1945—not a single passenger car was made for civilian use.

Current production is at the rate of less than 50 per cent of normal.

Because of materials shortages thousands of vehicles are leaving the assembly lines unfinished. Some buyers are accepting deliveries without rear seat equipment but in several instances the unfinished vehicles are piling up in lots adjoining the assembly plants.

That's the dark side of the outlook for early delivery of new passenger cars. There may be some comfort in the fact that the car industry currently has greater production capacity than ever in its history. However, because of shortages of steel, pig iron, copper, cotton goods, lead, scrap iron, leather and virtually every other item going into car assembly, bly, the industry hasn't been able to utilize its full capacity.

It may be true, as some industry authorities have said, that the backlog of demand has been over-estimated; that it will shrink materially as car prices move up and that already buyers are becoming more "selective"—more particular about color combinations and other details.

Yet, allowing for all the elements that might enter into an over-estimating of the accumulation of new car orders, the backlog is of substantial proportions, representing probably a greater volume than the industry can produce in the next year to 18 months.

The suggestion has been advanced in some industry quarters that price increases in present models will influence many potential buyers to delay their purchases until the latter part of next year when most of the manufacturers are expected to bring out new lower priced cars.

The sales division of the industry expects some such reaction to mounting retail price schedules for what formerly were "low-priced" cars. But most of the merchandising executives are convinced it will not be of major proportions.

And the industry which puts on its assembly lines only the vehicles for which it has orders, is going ahead with plans for the highest possible production volume well into next year before halting for new model switch-overs.
