'In Old Sacramento' Opens Run at Quilna Theatre Friday

Dramatically thrilling from beginning to end is the adventure, "In 'Old Sacramento" now showing at the Quilna theatre.

The entertainment values are many as the film introduces William Elliott in his first romantic role and presents Constance Moore in her best role to date. The film boasts a large supporting cast which includes such performers as Hank Daniels, Ruth Donnelly, Eugene Pallette, Lionel Stander, Jack LaRue, and Grant Withers. It tells the story of a lovable, handsome rogue who steals money from the rich and kisses from beautiful women. 'All in all, fans are certain to have a very enjoyable time when they see this picture.

For top-notch suspense and mystery, the Ohio brings "The Postman Always Rings Twice" to the screen Friday. Lana Turner and John Garfield are in the leading roles. The film has received wide acclaim by critics from coast to coast. With two such great stars and such an outstanding story, film fans cannot help but like this movie.

· A story of lighter vein is currently showing at the Sigma the-atre entitled "Her Adventurous Night" and stars Dennis O'Kecfe and Helen Walker. The film tells the delightful crazy story of a young boy with a slightly en-larged gift of imagination. This particular boy's imagination manages to get his parents and school principal into one of the most precarious situations on record. For plenty of fun, this is the film you'll want to see.

Abbott and Costello bring some more of their antics to the screen, this time to the State in "Little Giant." The picture has Costello as a sweeper salesman and Abbott his boss. How the two comedians manage to work things out prove to be both absorbing and hilarious. Sharing the billing is "Truth about Murder" with Bonita Gianville.

"Arizona Skies" and "Cream of the Century" are the films currently showing at the Lyric the-"Twice Blessed" and "Devil Riders" are scheduled to open Saturday midnight.

"Fighting Valley" and "Raiders of Red Gap" with Bob Livingstone are scheduled to bow out at the Allen theatre Saturday with Wasteland." Opening at the Glor-'Three on the Trail" with William ia Drive-In theatre on the same Boyd and "Song of Old Wyoming" | day will be "The Adventures of ready to open Sunday.

"It came from there!" someone gasped, pointing an accusing finger straight at Director Stuart Heisler's bungalow. In no time a crowd had formed, shouting. "Hey, Heisler! Unhand that dame!" and other tactless remarks calculated to make the unseen tenant

Heisler stepped calmly onto his 2-by-2 front porch, counted the house (as they say in the trade), and announced: "Well, if she can draw a gate like this she's hired."
"Who?" demanded the crowd.

"Sara Swartz," announced Heisler. "I have just been auditioning her. Goodby, folks, and thank you

History says further that she was pretty successful, too, until she began to grow too big to be taken seriously in three-cornered pants.

Then she went into retirement. But did she stay there? Did she shut herself off from the world, go sour on pictures, brood, cry, get drunk? Not Miss Swartz.

She came back to work as a bitplayer, starting all over again right from scratch, and gradually she worked up to becoming a specialist.

Her specialty is screaming. She has made quite a study of it, and she can tear anything off in that
