

'Down Missouri Way' Remains For Few More Days at Sigma

"Down Missouri Way" will remain a few more days at the Sigma theatre bringing with it as a co-feature "Gas House Kids."

The film tells the story of how folks live, love and act in the "show me" state and has John Carradine, Martha O'Driscoll and Eddie Dean as the leading players. Billy Halop heads the "Gas House Kids" in the film of the same name. Opening Saturday will be "Mr. Ace" and "Little Miss Big."

Looking At HOLLYWOOD

with ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—(NEA)—Louis Calhern tells it on himself.

His agent once took Calhern to see Darryl Zanuck.

"Before long," chuckles Louis, "I felt like a horse being bid for. They talked about my teeth, my name, my ears—even my eyes. They bounced my head from one of them to the other like a rubber ball."

"Zanuck remained completely unimpressed. Finally my agent got desperate.

"Darryl," he shouted, "I've got it! We'll cut down Calhern's nose and make a romantic lead out of him!"

"Are you crazy?" retorted Zanuck. "Gutzon [Borglum] is the only man I'd trust to tackle a nose that size, and he's busy down in Georgia carving out Stone Mountain."

"Gosh, does that mean I'm gonna have to go around kissing girls in pictures, like Mickey Rooney does?"

Record Rapidity

"Two Years Before the Mast," filmed three years ago, finally is getting its release. It was Alvin Ladd's first picture after checking out of the Army. . . . Hal Peary offers this bit of philosophy: "When you are down and out in Hollywood, something always turns up—usually the noses of your friends."

Those New York clubwomen who don't like the nasty things George Sanders says about the ladies in "The Private Affairs of Bel Ami" can find consolation in the same film:

It reads: "A man in love is not only idiotic but dangerous. He is like a mad dog which may have a fit of biting."

Betty Hutton wants Paramount.

A few months ago she was just another actress. Now Ruth Warwick, after landing the role of Kate in "Arch of Triumph," is asking, and getting, $15,000 per picture. . . . Universal-International is plotting a film co-starring Desi Arnaz and Carmen Miranda.

Told that he had been named a "star of tomorrow" in a nationwide exhibitor's poll, nine-year-old Butch Jenkins commented:

Gregory Peck Becomes Hobo As 'Sullivan's Travels' Star

Gregory Peck, one-time World's Fair barker, who rose to the top rank in Alhambra, will make his first starring appearance on the CBS "Hollywood Players" Tuesday at 9:30 p. m. in "Sullivan's Travels."

This satirical comedy deals with the efforts of a young movie director who hopes to produce "The Great American Film." To gain atmosphere for the film and find out how the other half lives, the director disguises himself as a hobo and starts out to "see life."

A carefully-staged "Experiment in Death" helps "Michael Shayne" to solve a baffling double murder, in the broadcast at 8 p. m.
