The first essential to cow comfort is plenty of clean dry bed-ding, declares Harvey J. Weavers, chief of the dairy division, state department of agriculture.

Keeping cokeep them clean, and this is a keep them clean, and this is a decided aid to quality milk production. The bedding should be changed at least once a day and freshened oftener if conditions in the conditions dicate the need. It is a good plan o, 143,000 reputerion to straighten the bedding with a Predicted for N. Y. fork each evening so the cows will have a good bed for the night,

Bedding does something else that is important for increased profits. It helps prevent mastitis and other udder troubles that so often prove costly. No herd health program is greater than mastitis, and its prevention is of utmost significance to the successful dairyman. Weavers said.

The best bedding material The best bedding material should have high absorptive properties so the cow will have a dry bed. Clean bright straw is excellent. Wood shavings are also good, Shredded corn stalks are frequently used, but are somewhat less desirable. Marsh hay makes duction.
