The British foreign office today rejected a Soviet denunciation of a 1920 treaty giving Norway sovereignty over Spitzbergen and indicated Britain would not recognize any agreement for construction of Soviet military bases on the Arc- tic island. A foreign office spokesman said Britain could not accept a Soviet contention that the 1920 treaty was invalid because it was signed by former enemy states. Moscow advanced that position Tuesday night in reporting a secret understanding with Nor- way on joint Soviet-Norwegian defense of the archipelago. Britain Not Consulted The spokesman said Britain had not been approached by either Norway or Russia on the ques- tion of re-negotiating the Spitz- bergen treaty, signed at Paris in 1920 and adhered to later by Rus- sia.	pelago. Lange has promised a full ac- count of the Spitzbergen talks. A broadcast by Moscow radio reported that early in 1945 "an understanding was reached about the necessity of joint defense". It said the question was discussed again between Lange and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York last November. Spitzbergen lies about 400 miles north of upper Norway and about 600 miles from the North pole. Norway won sole sovereignty in the Paris treaty of 1920. It promised never to militarize them. Russia did not sign the treaty but adhered to it. The Moscow broadcast de- nounced the treaty. It said that the treaty cannot remain valid because the signatories included some states which fought against the Allied powers in the recent war. The British foreign office today rejected a Soviet denunciation of a 1920 treaty giving Norway sovereignty over Spitzbergen and indicated Britain would not recognize any agreement for construction of Soviet military bases on the Arc- tic island. A foreign office spokesman said Britain could not accept a Soviet contention that the 1920 treaty was invalid because it was signed by former enemy states. Moscow advanced that position Tuesday night in reporting a secret understanding with Nor- way on joint Soviet-Norwegian defense of the archipelago. Britain Not Consulted The spokesman said Britain had not been approached by either Norway or Russia on the ques- tion of re-negotiating the Spitz- bergen treaty, signed at Paris in 1920 and adhered to later by Rus- sia. Russia is bound by internation- al treaty which frobids the use of the Spitzbergen islands for "war- like purposes," the foreign office spokesman said. Criticizing a Moscow statement that the treaty had been negoti- ated without knowledge of the Soviet government, he observed that the Soviets subsequently ad- hered to it and "hence Russia is is	pelago. A foreign office spokesman said Britain could not accept a Soviet contention that the 1920 treaty was invalid because it was signed by former enemy states. Moscow advanced, that position Tuesday night in reporting a secret understanding with Nor- way on joint Soviet-Norwegian defense of the archipelago. Britain Not Consulted The spokesman said Britain had not been approached by either Norway or Russia on the ques- tion of re-negotiating the Spitz- bergen treaty, signed at Paris in 1920 and adhered to later by Rus- sia. Russia is bound by internation- al treaty which frobids the use of the Spitzbergen islands for "war- like purposes," the foreign office spokesman said. Criticizing a Moscow statement that the treaty had been negoti- ated without knowledge of the Soviet government, he observed that the Soviets subsequently ad- hered to it and "hence Russia is bound by the treaty." "The treaty governing these is- lands specifically provides that they shall not be used for military purposes" he said. Paper Backs Doubt An Oslo dispatch said the first newspaper comment on the Rus-	pelago. Lange has promised a full account of the Spitzbergen talks. A broadcast by Moscow radio reported that early in 1945 "an understanding was reached about the necessity of joint defense". It said the question was discussed again between Lange and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York last November. Spitzbergen lies about 400 miles north of upper Norway and about 600 miles from the North pole. Norway won sole sovereignty in the Paris treaty of 1920. It promised never to militarize them. Russia did not sign the treaty but adhered to it. The Moscow broadcast de- nounced the treaty. It said that the treaty cannot remain valid because the signatories included some states which fought against the Allied powers in the recent war. Lange told the United Press last week that Russia and Nor- way agreed no treaty revision was possible without the consent of other signatories.
