the other direction. He knew all about Russia. Russia was wonderful and the Reds the world's redemption-then. Something happened, either to Louis or to the Russians. One, or the other, gave the other the bum's rush. Now, things are different.

So, though we listen, there's no more reason to take horse and gallop after him today than there was then.

The Reds, he told Madison last week, must be stopped.

But, he cautioned, capitalism can't stop 'em.

Socialism can. Yep, that's the new recipe-"democratic socialism," whatever in idealogy's cockeyed lexicon THAT means. But whatever it means, Louis is loping after it.

You have to mix 'em up a little, Mr. Fischer explains, a little socialism, a little democracy. Otherwise, no go.

Editor, The State Journal: In your Feb. I paper you featured a front page article about a person named Louis Fischer, in which he proclaimed that capitalism must be modified into socialism.

As usual the reason—or anclosy—he gives for America's success was its natural resources. One is left to believe-erroneously, of course-that Russia's "success" is due to its form of government and not its natural resources, which are, in fact, much greater than those of the U.S.A.

None of these apologists for the U.S. A., none of these advocates of communism and socialism ever mentions the fact that producion in this country has consistently bettered that of any other country in the world on a rate per man hour in any given job, And the reason is free enterprise, free labor, and the privilege of every man to go to the limit of his ability. Production per man is the whole key to the high standard of living in the U.S. A. Americans and the American way would be successful in any country anywhere in the world.

I don't believe we should try to sell capitalism at home and resist foreign "sales" efforts on communism and socialism, Many of us are tired of apologists for the U.S.A. While we agree in reporting events, it does seem unfair to give the crackpots undue headlining and space for sensationalism. Can't the inferiority complex of our newspapers be brought to an end?-Charles Marscher, 2213
