Blooming Grove
Gets Planning Unit

A five-man planning committee of residents of the town of Blooming Grove was elected at a meeting in the town hall Thursday night.

The purpose of the committee, which is headed by R. M. McFee, is to lay plans for community projects, such as a bathing beach, parks and playgrounds, and garden and lawn improvement contests, and to plan a series of public meetings at which the citizens of the town can discuss the different types of government and chose be tween incorporation as a fourth class city and annexation to Madison or decide to remain under the present town board type of government.

Thursday's meeting, which was atended by Boward Brendler, president of the Waunona Civic cub, whose petition for incorporation as a fourth class city was recently turned down by the town board type of government.

Other members of the committee clected Thursday are modeled by Edward Brendler, president of the Waunona Civic cub, whose petition for incorporation as a fourth class city was recently turned down by the town board type of government.
