Egart's Desire,

Probably, although surprisingly little. Psychologists have found that loss of sleep up to 48 hours, or even more, does not reduce accuracy in aiming, rate of tapping, grip, reaction speed, memory, learning, mental arithmetic, intelligence tests scores, hearing, etc. They believe other effects may occur-irritability, headaches, etc.\

Answer to Question No. 2

The opposite. In the study of a midwestern community of 10,000 the social and economic classes were rated I at the top, down to V at the bottom. They were mostly unskilled workers with eighth grade education or less. In the Is and IIs the boys and girls married around 25, in IIs and Vs the girls averages under 20, the boys just past 20, at marriage. The chances of a V boy finishing high school was 230 to 1, of a girl 57 to 1, but they had far the most children. We won't comment on what this means to America's future. We'll only weep.

Answer to Question No. 3

Yes. They need counsel. Many teachers, ministers, lawyers and even doctors make the terrible mistake of slapping them on the back and saying, "Forget it, son. lt's all in your mind." It's not all in their minds. Their whole personalities are straining with tensions. If they could "forget it" they wouldn't read help. they wouldn't need help.
