McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

About once a year I publish a series of articles on the smother play, one of the most fascinating plays in bridge. However, very few smother plays have been presented to me.

It came as a surprise, therefore, to receive a letter from John Harvey Jr. of Lexington, Ky., with today's hand. Harvey said he played it in a rubber bridge game.

You will note that with South the declarer at six clubs, if East refuses to put up his club king, he never should lose it, should he? Declarer can lead dummy's queen of clubs, and if East does not cover, he can lead a small club, win with the jack, cash the ace of clubs, and the king will still be good in the East hand.

The smother play is one which smothers East out of his king of clubs. Here is the way Harvey played it:

He won the opening lead in dummy with the ace of diamonds, then led the queen of clubs; East did not cover. A small club was played and the finesse of the jack taken.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

1. WHY DOES BEING "IN LOVE" GIVE YOU THAT FEELING OF ELATION AND HAPPINESS? YOUR OPINION?

2. ARE DOMINATING PEOPLE REAL LEADERS? YES - NO

3. DID THE PSYCHOLOGISTS DURING THE WAR FIND HOW TO MAKE PEOPLE SPEAK MORE FREELY OVER THE RADIO AND TELEPHONE? YES - NO

Answer to Question No. 1

Just because you are in love. Of course, cold-blooded psychologists think that while being in love is a mixture of many feelings, it is largely the feeling of absolute success. You are "on top of the world" because you have succeeded in winning the approval of the one whose approval means more than all the rest of the world put together.

Answer to Question No. 2

No. If we may judge from experiments on animals and children. Psychologists Jean A. S. Stewart and J. P. Scott studied "dominance" and "leadership" in a herd of goats and found dominating butts were never the real leaders. Leaders were animals that "inspired the voluntary cooperation of the followers." Psychologist H. H. Anderson found this true of children—the leaders were not dominating; rather they were those who explained things and secured confidence of others. Many studies of adult human leadership agree with this.

Answer to Question No. 3

Yes. This was one of their many fine achievements. Psychologist S. S. Stevens found what sounds are most frequently misunderstood over the phone and radio. This study reduced errors in vocal communication and doubtless prevented many a disaster.
