Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), reported Saturday night that Defense Secretary James Forrestal and the joint chiefs of staff are studying decentralization of the armed forces and the federal government for security against atomic attack. Writing in the Reserve Officer, Wiley said atomic war with Ruswhiley said atomic war with this sia could turn this capital instantly into "a death trap for American liberty." Asserting that "we are now living in a fool's paradise of apathy and inertia," Wiley added:

"We must decentralize or risk a destiny of national extinction." Wiley has introduced legislation embodying his ideas-including long distance law-making by television—for preparing for an atomic assault which might wipe out Washington and other large cities, including state capitals. He also wrote to Forrestal, he disclosed in the official publication of the Reserve Officers Assn. "urging him to influence his colleagues in the cabinet to make the necessary plans for decentralization for purposes of national security."

He said Forrestal replied: "I heartily agree with you that decentralization of federal activities is advantageous from the viewpoint of national defense."

command here were destroyed. The air force similarly is cut up into six dispersed air defense commands, and the navy has its far flung fleet-task force-sea frontier organization.

The army said the Pentagon building here still is the center of top level strategic planning and procurement. But more and more functions, it added, are being put into the hands of the six army

Wiley said a trans-polar atomic war with Russia is not inevitable and he hopes it won't happen. But if it does, he said, it could be over in "a matter of minutes or hours."
And because "America is almost completely unprepared" to defend itself against a surprise attack with atomic or bacteriological weapons, it might well be de-feated, the senator said.
