

"Egad! These styles fool you, for a moment I thought that was my dear old grandmother!"

SENATOR SOAPER SAYS:

Our State Department's exposure of Nazi-Soviet connivings elicits a crushing rejoinder from the red chum. As the story goes, we are supposed to have given Germany the dough to fight us.

Either pronouncement of marriage is a k. with us, except that we lean to the hard g when it first comes from the ice box.

Soviet and American relations descend to the "you're another" stage, which is bad. It is only a step from the scholastic repartee, to "you and who else?"

After enameled the wood-work white, the next thing is to spend 15 years teaching a child to close a door by the knob.

Even in death the fuhrer is diabolical, as in carefully leaving documents about which spread dissension among the late Allies.

The trend in musical comedy is away from the socially significant and back to girls, bouffonism and corn. Once more it is permitted to laugh in a theater without being picked up as disorderly.

A reader can be shown to any question of the following: The last Barack Obama-Telemeter International Bureau, 1000 N. W. 10th, Washington 2, D. C. Please include name and address for return.

Q. How many states were represented in the first Presidential election? M. C. H.

A. The first President was elected by the votes of 10 states. North Carolina and Rhode Island had not yet joined the Union and the New York Legislature had failed to select electors.

Q. Is it unusual for a horse to produce twin colts? M. M.

A. The Bureau of Animal Industry says that no exact statistics are available on twinning in the breeding of horses. However, in comparison with other domestic animals twin colts are relatively rare.

Q. Where is the highest mountain that has been climbed? B. W.

A. Nanda Devi in British India, rising to a height of 25,660 feet, is the highest mountain that has hitherto been climbed. The summit was reached on Aug. 29, 1936.

Q. What is the percentage of loss in dressing a chicken? S. S. T.

A. Percentage of loss in the dressing of poultry varies as follows: 13 per cent when just feathers are removed; 21 per cent when fowl are drawn; 28 per cent when head and feet are removed.

Q. What is the "full faith and credit clause"? T. C. H.

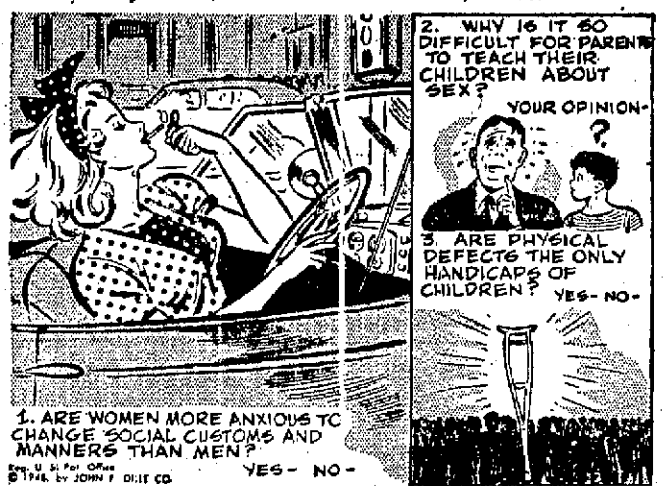

A. The Constitution, Article IV, Sec. 1 prescribes "That full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state." This is often referred to as "the full faith and credit clause."

"Of course you're worth more than you're getting, Hoggins. Why else do you imagine I'm keeping you on here?"

Tournament—N-S vul.

Today's hand embodies one very important point, the fallacy of doubling slam contracts, especially grand slam bids. If the declarer has to locate certain high cards a double gives him the key.

South's bid of four hearts was not an overbid. North's bid of four spades was surely a cue-bid showing the ace of spades. If he had a spade suit he would have shown it on the first or second round of bidding. North and South were not using Blackwood, and when South bid four no trump he was showing a desire to play the hand at no trump.

In my opinion North's bid of six no trump was too optimistic and South's seven no trump bid might also be classed as optimistic.

Now we come to West's double. West should have known from the bidding that there could be no other missing high cards except those he held. Why disclose them to declarer?

South won the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades. It looked as if he might have to lose a diamond trick, and if West had not doubled, declarer would have found it very difficult to figure out who held the diamond king. As it was, all he had to do was to run the five club tricks, discarding from dummy the queen-jack of diamonds and 10 of spades. Then he cashed his five heart tricks.

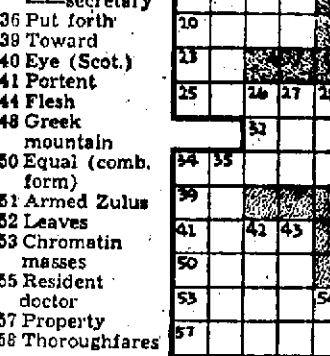

Dummy was left with the jack of spades and nine of diamonds, while declarer had the ace and 10 of diamonds. When West had to discard on the last heart, he was holding the king, eight of diamonds and queen of spades. If he discarded the spade, dummy's jack would be good. If he discarded the eight of diamonds, declarer would lead dummy's diamond and pick up with the ace, picking off the king. Then the 10 of diamonds would win the 13th trick.

ART LOVERS

The Reds don't let their atheism conflict with art appreciation. Among the 1695 paintings they have carried off from the Zwinger Museum in Dresden are Correggio's "Holy Night" and Raphael's "Sistine Madonna." The total value of this "haul" of sacred and profane art is estimated by experts at $170,000,000. Goering's thefts never approached that figure—Detroit Free Press.
