A. Byron Price, director of censorship, stated that the long work on the atomic bomb was the best-kept single secret of the war. For keeping the secret he gave special praise to the newspapers, radio broadcasters magazine and book publishers. In June, 1943, Price's office sent a note to 20,000 news outlets asking co-operation in not publishing any information about war experiments involving atomic energy.

Answer to Question No. 1

No. It is to show they do not have to labor, especially with their hands. As that profound South African writer, Olive Schreiner, maintained excessive personal adornment in either sex is not for beauty but to show one can command the labor of others without laboring himself. As another profound philosopher, Thorstein Veblen, put it it shows they can indulge in "conspicuous waste" and thus show their importance. Answer to Question No. 2

Answer to Question No. 2

No. The best test of a good citizen is that he is intolerant toward bad streets, unjust taxes, graft, crime, people who lie or gossip, or who do not attend public meetings for public welfare. Above all, a good citizen is intolerant of people who are intolerant toward rich, poor, or ignorant people or other races.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

You can get into an argument on today's hand, starting right off with South's opening bid. Should be open with two apades or one spade? Personally I prefer the two-spade bid because I use the ace-showing responses, to a two-bid and I would like to know if my partner has the ace of clubs.

The next argument, should North bid two no trump or ace of clubs.

The next argument, should North bid two no trump or raise spades? He could not bid three spades if they were using the ace-showing system, as that bid would show the ace of spades. Should he bid four spades? While I do not think anyone would criticize the bid in this case, with most players four spades would show good trump support and also either a singleton or a king and one. If North had bid two no trump, do you think that East should pass? He should not pass; especially over two notrump. It might prove important for West, his partner, to know that clubs should be led. When West failed to open a club it looked as if declarer would have no trouble making seven. The natural way to go about it was to cash the ace and king of hearts, and ace and king of diamonds, then South might discard the queen of clubs on the queen of diamonds.

But if he did he would not even make six, because the second heart and second diamond would be trumped and the ace of clubs cashed. South should realize that danger and should pull three rounds of trumps.

On the first and second trumps West discarded two dismonds, but if he had discarded the five of hearts on the third trump, declarer would have had no trouble in establishing the heart sult.

The only way the contract could be held to six was for West to discard the nine of clubs on the third trump.
