be airaid to enter a bridge tournament and play against experts. However if a player really wants to improve his bridge a tournament is the place to do it. Sims Gaynor of New York City gave me today's hand from the eastern states regional tour-nament. His opening bid of one heart was normal. We will have to admit that he could not open with a two-bid.

ing or responding with one no trump or two diamonds. But none of the North players wanted to bid one no trump with a singleton, and none wanted to into the two-zone without a trick and a half.

the opponents will refuse to let it be played at one. They will figure that the missing strength is in partner's hand, so they will make a bid, which is called "balancing." In this case East did have a good one space bid did have a good one spade bid --in fact, his hand would have justified an opening bid of one in doubling, and then of course his partner had to show the six and diamond suit, which Gay-nor properly supported. While I do not like East's double of four diamonds, it was based on the supposition that North would not make four diamonds when he had been afraid to hid two he had been afraid to bid two diamonds.
