their boy friends could be like these men who seem like "Prince Charmings." Answer to Question No. 2

Yes. The famous experiments of Dodge and Benedict on the effect of small doses of alcohol showed that even two ounces of whisky—about the same as a quart of 2.75 per cent beer-de-creased the speed of sweeping the eyes from side to side and up and down by 11 per cent, and up and down by 11 per cent, and the speed of turning the eyes from one object to another, 5 per cent. The most important thing was that the drinker felt stronger, more confident and willing to take greater risks be-lieving he had greater ability when actually he had less. Answer to Question No. 3 Because the elements in the germ cells that produce feeble-
